The choice for a new town manager is down to just two candidates, both men and both already involved in Massachusetts government.

Two running for selectman

When voters go to the polls Monday, March 26, the names of two candidates for one seat on the Board of Selectmen will be on the ballot: incumbent William Downs and challenger Susan O'Neill. Reporter Don Staruk interviewed both candidates.

Selectman William Downs wants a postal annex in the Old Town Hall, is looking to improve communications in town government and would hesitate to make cuts in public safety if and when more budget cuts are necessary.

He has served as chairman of the Andover Retirement Board for the past 10 years and is a member of the Essex County Advisory Board. He has served on the

Investigating civil rights down in El Salvador

By Lisa A. Boudreau

While some Andover students and teachers went south to vacation during February break, Tom Meyers, a social studies teacher at Doherty Middle School, went south to investigate human rights violations in El Salvador.

During his week-long stay there, Mr. Meyers took a tour of a village called Corral de Piedros, which was attacked Feb. 11. His group, including 20 people from the Jesuit Human Rights Commission and Detroit Bishop Thomas Gumbleton, was going to the village to participate in commemoration services for people who died in the attack.

Getting to the village was extremely difficult. The Salvadoran military had cordoned off the area, he said.

"We were told by the El Salvadoran military that to cross their line would violate orders of the El Salvadoran government at a time when they were under seige, which is analogous to martial law, and we would be subject to arrest," Mr. Meyers said in an interview with the Townsman.

While the group was detained, two U.S. Army advisers arrived and backed up what the El Salvadorian troops had said.

"They said it wasn't our business to go up, that we were interfering in El Salvadoran politics," Mr. Meyers said.

"They said we could be perceived as ugly Americans," he added.

About that time, Mr. Mey-

Group to study downtown

By Don Staruk

The Planning Board Tuesday night named a six-member subcommittee to study the central business district in response to several businesses, including Barcelos market, closing or moving out of the downtown area in the last few months.

The downtown business district should continue to provide basic services to the community, according to board Chairwoman Susan Stott, and the subcommittee's task will be to explore how the town can make that happen.

All warrant articles pass

By Don Staruk

Approximately 580 residents attended the Special Town Meeting at the J. Everett Collins Center Monday night and passed all four warrant articles.

No more than a handful of votes were against passing any of the four articles. The meeting lasted one hour and 45 minutes.

Highlights of the meeting were a moving testimony on the state of the schools from outgoing School Committee Chairwoman Margo Tilghman, a frank statement of the state of the state from state Rep. Susan Tucker (D-Andover) and entertaining emotional outbursts by Donal Coleman, of 91 High St.

With the approval of the budget cuts proposed in article 1, Budget and Finance Director Tony Torrisi and Assessor William Krajewski can now submit the revised 1990 budget and get a tax rate approved by the state. That means tax bills should be out before mid-April.

Former Andover Selectman Paul Cronin spoke to 5,000 delegates of the Republican Convention at the World Trade Center in Boston Saturday in a final effort to secure a spot on his party's primary ballot. The Punchard Avenue resident conceded defeat after he received only 11.1 percent of the 15 percent of delegate votes he needed to make the September primary ballot. Mr. Cronin refused to consider a lesser position on the Republican ticket and will return to running his own electrical equipment firm in Lawrence.

COOKING

Tips on using a microwave

I would venture to guess that most people who own microwave ovens use them mainly to defrost meats or heat leftovers. This is useful and convenient. However, it is limiting the microwave's capabilities. I have several suggestions I find useful and would be interested in any you may like to share with readers.

All microwaves were not created equal and may lose their heating potential with age. To determine the wattage of your microwave, conduct the following test: Place one quart of water in the microwave oven, noting the temperature before heating. Heat on high or maximum two minutes. Measure the temperature after. If the temperature rises 34 to 38 degrees, it's a 650-700 watt oven. If the temperature rises 25 to 27 degrees, it's a 500-watt oven. My temperature times will be based on a 650-watt oven.

Warming plates

Make sure plates are microwave-proof. Place thin layer of water on plate. Microwave one dinner-size plate on high for 15 seconds. Dry and keep warm. It only takes one minute to warm dinner plates for a family of four.

Cooking time

To soften (not melt) one-half cup butter, microwave on plate on medium for about 10 seconds. Check halfway through to prevent melting.

Soften hard brown sugar

Add one apple slice to plastic bag filled with one pound of sugar. Close bag loosely with string. Microwave on high 30 to 60 seconds checking midway. Let stand five minutes to complete softening. If sugar begins to melt, remove and let stand to complete softening.

Peeling squash

Soften butternut or other squash to ease peeling. Microwave one pound of squash on high 1½ to 2 minutes. Rotate and mi-

NEWS IN BRIEF

Getting ready for Earth Day

Local citizen groups, schools and town officials will demonstrate simple efforts and actions every citizen can take to help build a safe and sustainable earth on Saturday, April 21, at the Old Town Hall on Main Street. The event is Andover's celebration of Earth Day 1990, a worldwide effort to call attention to the problems that threaten our planet in the immediate and long-term future.

Andover's Earth Day activities will take place the day before the international celebration of Earth Day on April 22. Sponsored by Andover Recycling Inc., which got its start on the first Earth Day celebration 20 years ago, the local event will feature more than 30 exhibits on water and land conservation, clean air, pesticide control and recycling and focus on current efforts and future possibilities for making a difference in Andover.

Exhibit participants include the Andover Conservation Commission, Andover's Water Division, AVIS, the League of Women Voters, Andover Garden Club, Four Seasons Garden Club, Andover Artist Guild, Andover High School and elementary schools, to name a few.

Groups interested in participating should contact Margaret Pustell at 475-4871.

This year marks 20 years since the first Earth Day celebration in 1970, the largest organized demonstration in history. More than 20 million people participated in Earth Day 1970, the event that gave birth to the modern American environmental movement. Students from Andover High School, Phillips and Abbot academies and Brooks School, joined by the Andover Village Improvement Society, passed out printed information on pollution control and carried out a major town cleanup, resulting in a mountain of trash in the municipal parking lot at the end of the day.

ABC seeks donations

The Abbot and Dorothy H. Stevens Foundation has again offered a grant to the Andover Committee for A Better Chance (ABC), the nonprofit organization that provides academically talented, economically disadvantaged minority students with an educational alternative.

This year the foundation focuses on the individual giver and will match the dollars of increased three-year pledges up to $5,000. The phonathon will be held the evenings of March 26-29 at Andover Bank.

For the past 22 years, graduates of the Andover ABC program have attended Andover High School and gone on to college. The students live at 134 Main St. under the supervision of resident directors, Brian and Darlene Spriggs. The program emphasizes academic excellence.

Students are involved in sports and other extracurricular activities as well as community service. One evening each week and one weekend per month, the students go to the home of their host parents so they can be apart from the group and participate as a member of a local family.

The organization is funded solely through individual and business donations. The annual budget averages $40,000 with additional capital funding solicited to finance major repairs on the house when needed. ABC directors hope to raise $20,000 through this year's phonathon effort. Calls will made from 8:30 to 9 p.m. to former contributors and potential new supporters.

Andover ABC is a community program. The organization is run by a board of directors who volunteer their time and talents. Eleven Andover families are presently hosting students, the average commitment being three years. The Andover Bank donates its offices for the phonathon so volunteers may call for renewals and new pledges. Anyone interested in helping should contact Kathy Hess or Maria Bartlett, coordinators of the phonathon, or leave word at the ABC house.

Roundup of board news

Zoning Board of Appeals

- The Zoning Board of Appeals recently approved a special permit for DSM Realty Inc./New Indian Ridge Country Club, of 875 East St. in Tewksbury, to construct a two-story addition to an existing club house at the Indian Ridge Country Club off Iroquois Avenue.

- The board continued a public hearing of Peter Wojtkun, of 364 N. Main St., for a variance and special permit for changes to the property at 302 High St.

- The board approved a variance for William E. and Alice M. Hart, of 203 High St., to convert a single-family dwelling into a multi-family dwelling containing three units.

Board of Selectmen

- The Board of Selectmen last week approved a common victualer's wine and beer license for the Depot House of Pizza, at 53 Essex St.

Planning Board

- The Planning Board voted Monday night to accept a policy for accepting the new roads in the "tortuous development" of Olympic Village. The subdivision off Woburn Street was started 10 years ago this Sunday and has "a voluminous record" of complaints, according to Planner Stephen Colyer.

Plans are in the works to convert the former Tyer Rubber building on Railroad Avenue into retail shops, but the property is under foreclosure and scheduled for auction in two weeks. The Scapa Group Inc. holds the mortgage on the property and has foreclosed on it, according to Bruce Alpert of Reading, local attorney for the company. An auction was scheduled for Tuesday, March 13, but was postponed at the last minute until April 5. George Stern, of North Andover, the mortgagee according to Mr. Alpert, is planning to develop the property with Rich Rubino of Andover.

The street acceptance policy was required because the developer, T.D.J. Development Corp., mistakenly included rights to parts of 23 streets in the individual lot titles.

Some residents of the area are holding onto the street rights in an effort to force the developer to correct other complaints and problems they have with the development and their homes.

Truck crashes Wednesday

The trailer of a truck carrying crushed cars and scrap metal overturned on the northbound ramp of Interstate 93 at Dascomb Road at about 10:30 Wednesday morning, spilling its cargo and closing the ramp.

No people were hurt in the accident, but the ramp had to be closed while other trucks could be backed off of it and the mess was cleaned up.

Conservation Agent James Greer responded to the scene after police reported that approximately 15 gallons of hydraulic fluid had spilled and was leaking into a storm drain.

Program aims to help with college costs

The college opportunity fund allows families to purchase tax-exempt municipal mini-bonds in denominations as low as $50. The bonds are worth a pre-determined percentage of a college's tuition and this percentage will remain fixed. This will effectively "lock in" tomorrow's tuition costs at today's prices.

When the bonds are redeemed at the participating college, their value will be at least the tuition percentage established at the time of purchase. Massachusetts will guarantee that the redeemed bond will pay a rate equal to the average increase in college tuition costs and participating institutions will guarantee that the savings will equal their individual college increase.

The Massachusetts Education Loan Authority will administer the program and anticipates these bonds will be available in September. For further information, call MELEA at (617) 338-1253, or Rep. Tucker at (617) 722-2070.

Lyndia Moul, former PTO president at Shawsheen School, her husband, Kirk, daughter, Kristin, and son, Jonathan, have moved to Malaysia. The Moul family left Andover two weeks ago to live in Singapore, where Mr. Moul is now employed.

Andover resident Diana G. Gould, who is president of the New England Memorial Hospital auxiliary, is fast at work for the hospital's spring fund raising event. It is called "A Song of Spring" and will be held Saturday, April 7, at the Westin Hotel in Boston, and it celebrates the auxiliary's 25th anniversary. If you're a fan of Eileen Prose, hostess of WCVB-TV's Good Day, you might want to attend this dinner because she is mistress of ceremonies.

Omar Khan, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Akmal Khan of Heathstone Way, an eighth-grader at Pike School, earned one of the top scores in Massachusetts in last month's National Geography Bee qualifying test.

As winner of the school-wide competition at Pike, Omar went on to take a test to qualify for the state championships at Winchester High School on March 30. Only the top 100 scorers of students in grades four through eight throughout the state qualify for the championship round. The winner at that level will compete in the National Geography Bee in Washington, D.C., in May.

THE SPINE

From front to back the spine should be straight up and down. A side view of the normal spine should show four curves — two curves to the front and two to the back.

An auto accident, a severe fall or injury can cause these vertebrae to become subluxated causing pressure on the spinal nerves. Every organ in the body has a nerve supply and any time these nerves are pinched by misaligned vertebrae they can cause various discomforts — headaches, back or neck tension, shoulder pain, etc. That leads us to ask:

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC AND HOW CAN IT HELP?

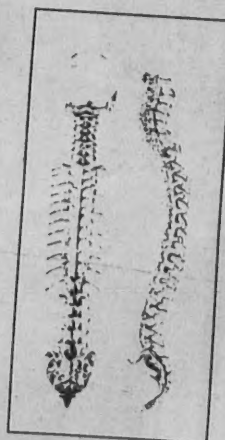

Chiropractic Care is a Drugless Natural Way to Good Health! Discovered by D. D. Palmer in 1895, chiropractic today is widely recognized as a primary health care system and is included within the Medicare and Medicaid programs along with 640 insurance companies.

Many people think that chiropractic deals only with back problems — this is a misconception which we would like to explain. CHIROPRACTIC deals with the spinal column and the spinal cord which carries all the vital nerves of the entire body. The science of Chiropractic is founded on the premise that adequate nerve supply is of prime importance in regulating body function. Chiropractors use this scientific principle to maintain health and to correct the cause of disease. The soundness of its basic principle is documented by countless sufferers restored to good health by Chiropractic care.

There is no way that we can tell you all about Chiropractic care in a few short paragraphs — but a short visit to our office and we can answer any questions that you may have.

CHIROPRACTIC RESULTS

These are x-rays taken of a patient after an automobile accident, and the corrective results from the chiropractic adjustments.

Paul O'Neill, of Argyle Street, are in for quite a schedule in the next weeks. Ten-year-old Kel, as he's called, was chosen to play Gauroche in the Boston production of "Les Miserables."

We talked with Sue early this week and she doesn't even know which nights Kel will be on stage. He's alternating nights with another young actor, but even on the nights when he's not in it, Kel has to be there as an understudy. Then on the nights he's playing, he has to wait back stage for the 11:15ish curtain call. Sue won't be allowed to go back stage to sit with her son when he's marking time waiting for curtain call. She says there's a chaperone back stage for the five-or-so kids who play in "Les Miserables."

Kel's part dies on stage during the play, which he thinks "is real neat," according to his mom.

His schedule is taxing. For instance, yesterday he had to be in Boston at 1 p.m. and he rehearsed until 5:30 when he had a break for dinner until 7. The chaperone won't take that break with the kids so the O'Neills have to be there. Then he had to be back from 7 to about midnight. Kel, a student at West Elementary, will miss some school. "It's a little more than we had bargained for," Sue told us.

She said Kel had never seen this play but he loved the music so much that he read the book. He then asked his mother if he could try out for "Les Miserables" if tryouts were ever local. To quiet him, Sue said OK and then it happened. And the rest is history.

Here's thanks to whomever left the Chevy hubcap by the Townsman's front door last week, after reporter Don Staruk wrote a column about losing his hubcap.

We don't mean to seem ungrateful, but it's the wrong hubcap. We're still looking, too, but Mr. Staruk did find another on his run yesterday and he thinks it might really be his.

Christine Colangeli, daughter of Barbara Colangeli of Andover, has been selected to the Maine Prep Ski Team for placing 10th in the season-long series. A student at Hebron Academy in Hebron, Maine, Christine's efforts helped Hebron place second in the MAISAD Alpine Skiing Championships held recently in Bridgton, Maine.

About 578 Andover residents attended the Special Town Meeting Monday night at the Collins Center. All four warrant articles passed easily.

Garden club entertains seniors

The Spade and Trowel Garden Club of Andover hosted a homemade buffet dinner recently for senior citizens of Chestnut Court, Stowe Court and Grandview Terrace.

After dinner, John Finneran presented a slide lecture on plants and flowers of the Bibleland. The 48 seniors who attended were given a cactus plant.

In other news about the Spade and Trowel Garden Club, members took part in a workshop presented by Rosemary McCine. Members were taught to make mini-bouquets of dried flowers, which rest in lace. They then presented the bouquets to residents of the Randolph Nursing home, which is located at 102 Burnham Road.

crowave two more minutes (extend time, if necessary). Cool and peel with vegetable peeler.

Toasting almonds, etc.

Place one tablespoon butter in nine-inch pie plate and microwave on high 30 seconds until melted. Stir in one-quarter cup slivered almonds, tossing to coat. Microwave 3½ to 4½ minutes on high until golden brown, stirring every two minutes. Let stand five minutes. Almonds will continue to toast after they are removed from oven.

Rehydrate dried beans

Instead of soaking overnight, place one pound of dried beans with eight cups of water in a five-quart casserole. Cover tightly. Microwave eight to 10 minutes until boiling. Let stand covered one hour.

To open fresh oysters and clams

Clean with brush and salt. Soak in cold water a few hours. Arrange six oysters at a time in two-quart casserole. Cover with lid and microwave on high 45 seconds or until shells open. Check every 15 seconds.

Oshibori towels

Before and after dining offer guests an oshibori towel prepared in the microwave. Fold four dampened color-coordinated washcloths and place in shallow dish. Microwave on high one to two minutes until warm. A clove-studded lemon peel may be inserted in each cloth before warming; remove before using.

Even if you never use your microwave for cooking, I know you will enjoy preparing and sampling one of these recipes.

Chocolate dessert cups

12 paper cupcake liners
4 1-ounce squares semi-sweet baking chocolate
2 tsp. Crisco

Double paper liners. Arrange on flat plate and set side. Place chocolate and shortening in measuring cup and microwave on medium 3½ to 4 minutes until glossy and smooth when stirred. Stir after each minute.

Spoon one tablespoon melted chocolate into each double-thickness dessert cup liner. Tilt to coat sides to within 1/8 inch of the top. Refrigerate one hour before removing paper. Return to refrigerator. Fill with sherbert or ice cream topped with favorite liqueur. For St. Patrick's Day, use vanilla ice cream, creme de menthe and place on white doily-lined plate garnished with fresh green leaf.

It's a dinner

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

It is a fact! Fathers really do get morning sickness. This common condition is called "couvade syndrome"—a condition which expectant fathers experience physical and psychological symptoms of pregnancy; the condition disappears soon after their wife gives birth. The "couvade syndrome" (taken from the French verb "couvrir, to hatch") originally referred to the practice among non-Western peoples in which fathers participate in birth rituals. The husband lies in bed during the birth of his child, complains of labor pains, and acts just like the pregnant wife. In our own culture, the syndrome is based on a structure of anxiety, doubts, basic needs and concerns. Involving the husband, talking about problems and releasing tension during pregnancy helps a great deal.

SCHOOLS

Computer unit sets sail

By Kenneth Kwajewski

Editor's note: This is the ninth article in a series of biweekly articles written by the school system's computer education director, who will be describing the third phase of Andover's computer education plan.

Do the terms dory, throat, gaffer, salt-passer, trolley-pusher, tongue boy, jigger and grapnel mean anything to you? To a sixth-grader at either of Andover's middle schools, these terms are part of an interdisciplinary unit in the second year of its voyage. It's the "Voyage of the Mimi," which set sail at both schools last year.

It is a multimedia program that allows teachers to use videotapes, workbooks, computer hardware, software and video-disks to teach students about whales and their environment. The package contains four modules that help students improve thinking skills by learning about whale boats, navigation, ecosystems, survival and human nature. Twenty-six videotapes, each 15 minutes long, help drive the other components of the program. These lessons are divided into two categories: episodes and expeditions.

The 13 episodes depict the travels and adventures of a crew of scientists studying humpback whales in the Gulf of Maine. The stories accurately depict how scientists think about the world and how they seek answers to questions about its workings. The documentary expeditions are visits to places where interesting people are doing work that relates to an aspect of science touched on in the episodes.

The expeditions are hosted by one of the young actors from the cast of the series and show how real people are working in the real world with the ideas and issues brought out in the fictional context of the drama.

Last year both schools used two of the four modules, "Maps and Navigation" and "Whales and their Environment." The "Introduction to Computing" unit taught students the basics of Logo. Since Andover students are taught Logo at the third grade level, it was unnecessary to repeat this unit in grade six.

"Maps and Navigation" helps students make the transition from the two-dimensional world of maps and charts to three-dimensional navigation. Students can use maps, charts and computer software to learn about longitude, latitude and other navigation skills.

"Whales and their Environment" helps students understand the physical environment of whales and their relationship with humans. This unit comes with workbooks, maps, charts and a computer laboratory that contains sensors and probes. These devices allow students to collect

Call me Charlie

The children at the Early Childhood Center at Shawsheen School got a nautical surprise last week from high school students participating in a drug prevention program called Project Charlie, which stands for Chemical Abuse Resolution Lies in Education. Jeff Breazeale as Lefty Octopus and Ryan Kelly as the Sea Captain were two of the 10 high school students who performed the play, "Charlie's Ocean Adventure." Project Charlie is sponsoring an evening of movies, games and a mime show tonight, March 15, at 5:30 at the J. Everett Collins Center.

West students help Easter Seals

West Elementary School students shot baskets to help people with disabilities at a recent Boston Celtics/Easter Seal Basketball Shoot-Out.

Forty-five students shot baskets for three minutes and raised more than $1,264 to fund Easter Seal services. Nick Branzetti contributed the most, raising $218.

Basketball shoot-outs are sponsored throughout Massachusetts by TJX Cos. Inc. and the Boston Celtics. Celtic Kevin McHale is honorary chairman of the event.

Students secure pledges for baskets scored during the shoot-out. Winners receive prizes, such as Celtics T-shirts, autographed basketballs and athletic shoes.

All money raised supports local Easter Seal services for people with disabilities.

Students clean up in Globe art contest

Nine Andover students received awards for their artwork in the 40th annual Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards.

Andover High School students and the awards they won are Lynda Banzi, three judges' distinctions and a blue ribbon; Deborah Flashenberg, honorable mention; Laura Morrissey, Gold Key; Joseph Sirois, Gold Key and blue ribbon; and Amy Taylor, two judges' distinctions and a blue ribbon.

Four students from Doherty Middle School won Gold Keys. They are Jeremy Burke, Kristin DeYoung, Andrew Hsu and Matt Ragonese.

Other students whose work was exhibited during the competition include Andover High's Lisa Laidner and Pat Mahoney and Jennie Bradway, who attends West Middle School.

The students were prepared by art teachers Jim Batchelder, Anne Richardson, Betul Arin, Donna Frank and Kathleen Doyle Cook.

Winners were honored at an awards ceremony at CityPlace in the State Transportation Building in Boston March 4. Blue ribbon recipients enter the National Scholastic Art Awards competition in New York City in the spring.

Local students competed against approximately 1,690 students in grades seven through 12 from public, private and parochial schools in northern Massachusetts. Artwork in categories ranging from watercolors and graphic design to sculpture and photography was judged by a panel of artists and art educators. The artwork was selected for honors based on imaginative content, skill and craftsmanship, style, human expression and observation.

Approximately 5,500 pieces of artwork from across the state were entered in this year's competition, and 343 Gold Keys, 227 judges' distinctions and 316 honorable mentions were awarded.

The Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards program is sponsored in Massachusetts by the Globe and administered by the Cultural Education Collaborative, an arts in education agency. The competition is designed to recognize and reward promising young artists and encourage them to continue their studies in the fine arts, officials said.

They will continue to the Normandy coast for a visit to Mont-St.-Michel before traveling north to Arromanches to see the D-Day beaches. The final evening will be spent in Paris before flying home.

The adults are faculty members Judith Chapell, Evelyn Roche, Patty Smith and Sylvia Soule.

Man graduates from UNH

John Christopher Recesso, son of John and Patricia Recesso of 6 Meadowbrook Drive, graduated from the University of New Hampshire at Durham at the university's winter commencement.

Mr. Recesso received a bachelor of arts degree in English literature and minored in business administration.

While at college, he was a member of the varsity NCAA alpine ski team for two years and an eminent associate at Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Now that he's graduated, he plans to live in California for a half year, then return to the East for a job as a writer or businessman.

Adm. William Crowe Jr., retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, delivered the university's keynote address.

sixth-grade program and involved all students and faculty at that level.

The banquet was an extension of the students' medieval history unit. Diners were seated at refectory tables in a candlelit hall for a meal similar to what would have been served 500 years ago.

Students and faculty were dressed as lords and ladies, serfs, merchants, farmers, clergy and soldiers. Music was provided by sixth-graders playing medieval songs on the violin and horn. The banquet began with a Latin blessing and concluded with entertainment prepared by the students.

One group of youngsters performed a medieval country dance. Another group recited excerpts from poems of the Middle Ages. Students delivered five brief skits they created to illustrate medieval themes. Sixth-graders sang French and Spanish songs about courtly love which they learned in their foreign language classes.

The annual event was sponsored by the sixth grade and history department.

Will your teenager be among the students who score 250 more points on the SAT?

He or she might be. If your son or daughter prepares with a book. Or a friend. But a student's best shot is to take the most successful SAT prep course there is — Stanley H. Kaplan.

For 50 years, Stanley H. Kaplan's test-taking techniques and professional educational programs have helped over 100,000 students prepare for the SAT. Many have increased their scores 150, 200, 250 points, or more.

Call. An extra 250 points can make a big difference in the next four years of your teenager's life.

Computer unit sets sail at schools

data about heat, temperature, light and sound that can be displayed and stored. Students can use the computer as a tool to measure, record and analyze scientific data. This data is fed into the computer and then can be evaluated by teacher and student. Students also use educational software to find lost whales and ships and reinforce the concepts stressed in the workbooks.

The final unit, "Ecosystems," has been added to both sixth-grade curricula this year. This unit helps students understand the elements and relationships within ecosystems with emphasis on food chains and food webs. Teachers from both middle schools spent two days last summer working with Jack Farrell, an educational consultant from Newburyport. He helped them explore the National Marine Fisheries, a 133-foot schooner called the Coronet and Plum Island. Teachers learned about the delicate balance of life that exists in all ecosystems and how to use some of the new materials.

Teachers at both middle schools include Candy Borrello, George Walsh, Sheila LaMontagne, Bill Skladany, Irene Crane, Dorothy Rosenfield, Robert Littlefield, Sue Rodgers, Helen Caplan, Moe Ferris, Dick Loschi, Jim Redmond, Jane Snow, Charles Donovan and Walter Ros-sini.

Teachers at West Middle said "Mimi" has become a true interdisciplinary unit at the school. Teachers have incorporated various activities of the Mimi into almost all of the regular disciplines. Students not only learn science and math concepts, but write journals about each character, develop charts and graphs on food chains, develop whale mobiles and have had a book fair based on the various components of the Mimi. Students in one class have assumed the roles of the characters on the Mimi ship. Each student acts out how the character behaves under various circumstances experienced on the voyage. One group of students has assumed the personality of the Mimi and give their impressions of the characters based on the point of view of the ship.

Ms. Rodgers and Ms. Caplan have developed "Mimi boxes," sets of materials boxed together that allow students to do extra activities associated with the Mimi adventure. Each box contains directions, materials and evaluations for use by individual students, small groups or as a jumping-off point for a class project. The varied activities in each box are hands-on, self-directing and self-contained. The boxes also provide problem-solving and creative exercises. Both teachers have made additional boxes for teachers at Doherty.

Another West project is the creation of dories by sixth-grade students in John Fawcett's industrial arts class. Dories are fishing boats still being built in Newburyport. Mr. Fawcett is working with the sixth-grade team to help students better understand the life of a fisherman. He explains the difficulties fishermen face each day as they attempt to bring home enough fish to be sold for profit.

Students learn about the sea and its farmers. Plans for a dory are given to each student who constructs the boat using industrial art materials and equipment. The results, on display in the industrial arts room, are well worth a visit. Last year Mr. Fawcett had his students build rowboats, but the dories are even more complicated to construct.

Ms. Rodgers says the Mimi unit is an excellent complement to the middle school science program. It gives students an opportunity to receive hands-on experiences with real-life situations and is an excellent example of interdisciplinary education, she said. Science, math, language arts, social studies and industrial arts are combined.

Teachers Charles Donovan and Mr. Fawcett will share their experiences with other middle school teachers at a middle school conference in Hyannis, sponsored by the New England League of Middle Schools.

Computers play a part in this program as well. Students use wordprocessing, graph experimental results, probes to record data from experiments and educational software. The computer blends in naturally with this program as the program blends in naturally with the curriculum. Hopefully, there will be more Mimis to sail in the future.

Organists gives recital

Timothy E. Smith will give an organ recital Friday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. at Trinitarian Congregational Church, 72 Elm St., North Andover.

Mr. Smith, who is director of music at the First United Church of Christ, Congregational, in Milford, Conn., will perform the works of Alexandre Guilmant, J.S. Bach, Felix Mendelssohn and Horatio Parker as well as selected English works and hymn singing.

Mr. Smith earned a bachelor of music degree in organ performance from Wheaton College in Illinois and a master of music degree in organ and church music from Northwestern University.

He was assistant cathedral musician at St. James Episcopal Cathedral and served as organ scholar at Northwestern's Millar Chapel.

Mr. Smith is national councilor for historical concerns for the Organ Historical Society and chairman of the society's historic organs committee, which cites outstanding examples of American organ building from past generations.

As a recitalist, Mr. Smith has performed throughout New England and the Midwest, often specializing in literature and instruments of the late 19th century. He is frequently heard at national conventions of the Organ Historical Society.

The organ at Trinitarian Congregational Church was installed in 1988 by the Andover Organ Co. in Methuen. It is a two-manual, 24-step tracker action instrument, rebuilt from an organ dating from the 1880s by an unknown Midwestern builder and relocated from a church in Iowa.

The organ boasts 1,608 pipes, combining old and new pipework. The great principal chorus, for instance, is from an 1878 organ by William A. Johnson.

The restoration and installation was supervised by Bradley Rule, formerly of Andover Organ and former organist at Trinitarian. Members of the congregation provided substantial labor under Mr. Rule's guidance.

The donation for the concert is $5; children under 12 are admitted free.

Church holds art auction

Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, 71 Chandler Road, will hold an art auction Saturday, March 17, with a preview at 6:30 p.m. and the auction beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Donation is $5 per person. There will be door prizes, a raffle prize, wine and cheese and pastries and coffee.

The auction will feature art in all media, oils, graphics, watercolors, cast paper and more and will include artists such as Neiman, Norman Rockwell, Salvador Dali, Ferdinand Delacroix, Rude, Klein and Marc Chagall.

The auction, the third annual, is open to the public.

CLASS ball slated for April 14

The Citizens League for Adult Special Services invites the public to dine and dance to the music of a live band on Saturday, April 14, at DiBurro's in Bradford from 6:30 p.m. to midnight. The seventh annual CLASS ball will feature a dinner of roast prime tenderloin of beef and the music of Family Affair.

Tickets are priced at $40 per person or $350 per table of 10; proceeds will benefit the agency. CLASS Inc. provides training services for mentally retarded adults. It serves more than 160 clients from 17 communities throughout the Merrimack Valley and North Shore.

For tickets call CLASS headquarters, 1 Parker St., Lawrence, at 975-8587. Reservations should be made by March 30.

CLASS ball co-chairmen Lauren A. Cottone, sales manager of Sheraton Andover, and Wayne Slattery of Cochran and Porter Insurance in Wellesley discuss the April 14th event.

Just clowning around

Calf roping turns in to clown roping when Vince Bruce lassoes himself, Oaf, Grandma and Fish in the Big Apple Circus' production of "Grandma Goes West!" Andover's Department of Community Services will head to Boston's Northern Avenue to see the circus on Tuesday, April 17, during school vacation week. This year's all new show features Grandma as she takes audiences on a trip to the Wild West without leaving the big top. This performance is funded in part by the Steven's Foundation. Register at the DCS office on Bartlet Street. The bus will leave at 11:45 a.m. and return by 4 p.m. Tickets are $6, which includes bus transportation.

Parade celebrates St. Patrick's Day

The city of Lawrence will view a St. Patrick's Parade Sunday, March 18, beginning at 1 p.m. This is the seventh annual parade run by the St. Patrick's Parade Committee and the 20th held in Lawrence.

The parade will travel across Salem Street to South Broadway, over the O'Leary Bridge to North Broadway, across Haverhill Street, down Hampshire Street, to Essex Street. It will disperse at the corner of Jackson and Essex streets.

The city expects 150,000 spectators. Marching will be 17 high school, drum and bugle, bag pipe and brass bands. Also participating will be 15 floats and 2,000 people, including marching civic groups and state and local officials.

Storyteller weaves Irish tales

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with Lawrence Heritage State Park. Sharon Kennedy will present "An American Storyteller in Ireland," the kind of show that lets you smell the turf fire and taste the Guinness, according to Susan Henry from the Three Apples Storytelling Festival in Harvard.

Ms. Kennedy will present stories she gathered during travels in Ireland on Saturday, March 17, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Lawrence Heritage State Park, operated by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Management, is located on the corner of Jackson and Canal streets.

The program has two 45-minute sets; the first, according to Ms. Kennedy, is "light and risqué"; the second set features delicate, beautiful stories like that of the "selchie," a creature that is part woman, part seal. The storyteller does not recommend bringing children under age 12 because the performance contains off-color jokes and bawdy humor.

The second set will also include "Kate O'Connell of County Cork," the story of an immigrant who settles in Lowell in the early 19th century. The work, originally commissioned by Lowell Heritage State Park, is based on facts about the Irish experience in Lowell between 1830 and 1860.

Reservations are required and may be made by calling the Visitors Center Tuesday through Saturday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Andona Society plans fund-raising fashion show

The Andona Society will present the second of its three major annual fund-raisers, the Spring Gala, Tuesday, March 20, at the Sheraton Andover Hotel and Conference Center on Lowell Street. The evening will include a social hour, full course meal, a show with fashions, furs, music and door prizes.

All proceeds go toward the ongoing fund-raising efforts of the 38-year-old local women's civic organization to benefit the town of Andover. The Andona Society focuses on benefiting youth activities and support organizations. Last year the society provided two $1,500 scholarships to Andover High School seniors and a $1,000 scholarship to a graduate of the Greater Lawrence Technical School.

The society provides many camp scholarships during the summer to needy and deserving town youth; additionally, the women's group organizes, staffs and provides test results of the annual amblyopia vision screening in town for children 3 to 5 years old. All work of the organization is done entirely by volunteers.

The theme for this year's evening will be "All That Jazz" and will feature contemporary fashions and hair styles and a display of furs set to upbeat music.

After an entree of chicken dijonnaise with carrot cake for dessert, the group will watch the fashion show, with commentary provided by Sandy Blevin, a Ford Agency model who has been in the business for eight years. Ms. Blevin is involved in the annual "Models for Boston" fund-raiser. Its proceeds go toward helping the homeless.

The assortment of 40 to 50 outfits will be provided by Hattie's of Chelsea, a 55-year-old family business originally started as a millinery store. David Stone, grandson of the original owner, has two stores besides the main store in Chelsea. Mother of the bride, wedding guest and prom dresses, "After 5," popular and modern sportswear and activewear and weekend attire can be found at the Mystic Mall. Special orders are a large part of Hattie's business as well as leather and suede.

Mr. Stone is soon to open a new 8,000-square-foot store at Hillside Plaza in Saugus at the former location of Hillside Design Furniture.

The fashion show will be complemented by furs from Royal Jewelers and Furs in Lawrence. Royal has been in business for 42 years and has been owned and operated by the Leed family — Paula, Steve and Sel. They offer one-of-a-kind designer (Continued on page 30)

Those interested in becoming involved in the project should contact Shakespeare Inc., P.O. Box 1472, Cambridge 02238.

Quilt exhibit ends Sunday

The New England Quilt Museum's exhibit "Humor in Patchwork" closes Sunday, March 18.

The exhibit opened the Lowell museum's 1990 season. It features the work (and play) of 42 quilters from around the United States and Canada. Each quilter has chosen a traditional pattern for a starting point and interpreted it with tongue in cheek.

One quilter called her work "Nose of Sharon," based on the rose of Sharon pattern. See what happens to an innocuous-sounding Irish chain quilt when the leprechauns take over.

The New England Quilt Museum is located in Lowell's historic mill district at 256 Market St.

Following the Skug River to the Taft

By Marta Hornidge

In the last AVIS (Andover Village Improvement Association) article in the Townsman we followed the elusive Skug River through two reservations, Skug River and Hammond. Now we follow this historic river, whose name evolved through misspellings and mispronunciations from Skunk to Sconk to Skug, further upstream to the Amy Gordon Taft Reservation at the corner of Route 125 bypass and Wildwood Road.

Enter the property at this corner and, after a short walk through hardwood trees and pines, you reach a small pond spanned by a bridge built under the direction of Nat Smith, AVIS president. Follow the meandering path through the woods of oak, maple, aspen, tall cedar and jack pine and you will shortly reach Vine Street, the northern end of the property.

This section is filled with fascinating history. In Colonial times a place near here was set aside for public viewing of executions. Hugh Stone was hanged in 1689 for the murder of his wife, mother of his six children.

An active imagination is needed to picture this modest waterway as having sufficient energy to power a mill for grinding scythes in the early 1700s or for operating a sawmill through the 1800s, but a flourishing business did exist. The sawmill was demolished in the 1930s when a CCC camp was here. Broken millstones and rusting barrel hoops, remnants of these early activities, can be found along this stream today.

By following another trail slightly to the east you will reach a comfortable resting place, a log bench at the foot of Hoyer's Hill. Dick Hoyer, former Taft warden, built the bench as well as birdhouses that he placed throughout the reservation.

The Taft Reservation is considered one of the finest AVIS properties for wild flowers, yellow lady slippers, cardinal flowers and many other specimens that have been catalogued by John Gould, faculty member at Phillips Academy and an authority on wild flowers.

The Taft family has had a long history of interest in this historic section of Andover. Two generations of Tafts have occupied the Salem Street Gray Homestead since 1932. Its outbuildings and acreage are evidence of a once self-contained household. A shoemaker's shop stood on the property and land crops were raised, grain ground, live stock pastured, flax grown and fashioned into linen and wool spun and woven. The old weaving shed has returned to active use through the skill of Mrs. Taft.

Rebekah Lockwood Taft, now living in Colorado and one of the inheritors of the property, was the donor of this unusual reservation. While living in Andover she was an AVIS trustee in the 1960s and a friend of Andover's "father of conservation," Harold Rafton. By her request the land was named in memory of her mother, Amy Gordon Taft. She wanted her land kept in preservation and left in its natural and unimproved state.

This reservation is especially cherished. One neighbor living near these woodlands asked me not to write too enthusiastically about "his" reservation. "We want to keep it a secret so 'our' reservation won't get crowded," he said.

The current warden, Theodore Taylor Jr., may be contacted for any further information about the reservation.

About half a mile south of the Taft Reservation on the Route 125 bypass, opposite the State Police Barracks, is another interesting AVIS reservation, Rocky Hill, a geological gem.

Here you will see rocks that geologists have declared to be among the oldest in the world. The rocks exposed on this reservation are mere stubs of mountains that have been worn down through countless ages of exposure. Notice two major rock types, Andover granite, light colored and coarse grained, and Salem diorite, a darker fine-grained rock. The striations on the rock are typically from glacial polishing.

Climbing on the east side of the reservation, along the path circling the steep

Program series examines Holocaust

Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill will present a week-long series of programs designed to foster awareness and understanding of the events of the Jewish Holocaust during the week of April 23-30.

Titled "Never Again: A Commemoration of the Holocaust," the series will incorporate art, music, literature, poetry, lectures, personal discussions and classroom education.

Featured in the Northern Essex Community Gallery April 23 through the end of May will be "Without Surrender: Watercolors by Nelly Toll." Ms. Toll created paintings while she was a young girl in hiding from the Nazis in Lvov, Poland, from 1943-'44. She will lecture about her experiences Monday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Other events in the series will include an April 25 lecture by author Gerald Posner, best known for his book, "Mengele: The Complete Story"; an April 26 book discussion on Michael Marrus' "The Holocaust in History," led by Arthur Barlas of the NECC faculty; an April 27 performance by an ensemble from the Klezmer Conservatory Band; an April 30 dramatic reading from "Women of Terezstadt" and "Anne Frank's Diary." Newburyport resident Anna Smulowitz will do the reading. Rev. Robert Bullock will lecture on moral reasoning April 30.

All events are free and open to the public. For more information, contact Judith Kamber, director of staff development, or Steve Michaud, director of student activities.

granite cliff, you realize how rugged these granite rocks are. A small glacial moraine and kettle holes are further glacial evidence. At the end of the climb you will emerge from this rugged terrain to find yourself within sight of homes on Rocky Hill Road. Keep to the eastern side of the property and you will be rewarded by an overlook. Continue down and around and you have returned to your starting point, making a circle of the reservation.

This property was acquired between 1963 and 1968 mostly from purchases made in separate parcels. However, the 33-acre reservation was complete by 1968 with a gift from Phillips Academy of an ecologically important swampland near Route 125.

Adolph J. Buczynski is warden of this property. AVIS maps of all reservations can be found at Moor and Mountain, Memorial Hall Library and town offices. "AVIS, A History on Conservation," a book by Juliet Haines Mofford, is available at Moor and Mountain, Andover Bookstore and Andover Antiquarian Books. I am grateful to Mrs. Mofford for material from her book that I included in this article.

Lions noted

The Andover Lions Club has recently been recognized for its fundraising efforts for the Massachusetts Lions Eye Research Fund.

Lions clubs across the state raised $785,000 in 1989 for eye research.

The 16 member Ipswich club was recognized for being among the highest contributors of the smaller clubs, which made it one of the highest per capita donor groups in the state.

The contributions came from annual fund drives and events sponsored by the club.

Four seek one seat on School Committee

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Four Andover residents are running for one seat on the School Committee, at the Monday, March 26, elections. The position was vacated when committee Chairwoman Margo Tilghman announced she wouldn't seek re-election due to her husband's job relocation.

Five people had announced their candidacy on a write-in or sticker campaign but one withdrew his name from the race last week.

John Mercier said he withdrew because the other four candidates were equally as qualified to sit on the committee and he is busy at his job.

The four remaining candidates are Joseph Frio Jr., Christopher Outwin, Antonio Mendoza and Debra Silberstein. The Townsman interviewed the four.

Joseph Frio

Joseph Frio Jr., 31, lives at 97 Chestnut St. with his wife, Debbie, and 8-month-old son, Joseph III. Mr. Frio is an account executive at Interlogic Trace in Wilmington.

The couple moved to Andover two years ago from Arlington. One reason they moved to Andover, said Mr. Frio, was the "excellent reputation" of Andover's schools.

Schools are facing a budget crunch due to a decrease in state aid. Mr. Frio would like to see more businesses volunteering their personnel and resources to public schools to help defray the increasing cost of education.

Through the cooperation of Mr. Frio's employer and Junior Achievement, he taught a business and economics class last year at West Middle School for one hour, a few mornings each week.

"This town is filled with very well educated professional people who are qualified to help out in schools," he said.

Mr. Frio said he would like to see every option explored to alleviate anticipated overcrowding in the schools before he would consider bonding money to build a new school or add more space to an existing school.

Money to pay for personnel programs, school space and maintenance should not come from a Proposition 2½ override right now, said Mr. Frio. He favors across the board cuts until a detailed program for spending override money could be implemented.

Mr. Frio's previous political experience is a one-year term as a town meeting representative in Arlington.

He believes he should be on the School Committee here because he has innovative ideas and a business background that will help manage the responsibilities and problems facing the town's schools.

"Another, and the most important reason," said Mr. Frio, "is that I have a child. I want to make sure he gets the best education possible in Andover."

When asked if he had the time needed to devote to the office, Mr. Frio said he would make the time.

Christopher Outwin

Christopher Outwin, 42, who has a doctorate in education, lives at 4 Highvale Lane, with his wife, Glenna; daughter, Laurel, a third-grader at South School; two sons, Mark, a first-grader also at South; and 18-month-old Michael. The family has lived in Andover six years.

Dr. Outwin is an assistant professor of mass communication at Emerson College in Boston. He ran unsuccessfully for School Committee last year.

He is a member of South School's Parent Teacher Organization and is the group's liaison to the School Committee. He was also a member of the system-wide task force that reported back to the School Committee last year on the state of Andover's school buildings.

Andover doesn't have the money to finance all the problems outlined in the task force's or professional consultant's reports, said Dr. Outwin. But, he added, "prudent" restoration of the problem-plagued buildings should and could be accomplished.

His son, Mark, is in a classroom of 27 children at South School. It is the highest student-teacher ratio at the elementary level in Andover, according to Dr. Outwin. (Twenty-seven students to one teacher is the maximum allowed under the current School Committee guidelines for first-grade classes.)

He said parents of other children in this class have pulled together and voiced their concerns and are trying to find ways to reverse the trend of pushing student-teacher ratios to the limit.

"I would vote for, and I believe the town would approve, a Proposition 2½ override to pay for a thoroughly organized plan for school space," he said.

Experience as a professor, attendance at nearly every School Committee meeting during the last few years and participation in a PTO have prepared him for a School Committee seat, he said.

"The School Committee is already represented well by the business community. I think my background in education would be a plus in dealing with cutbacks," he said.

Dr. Outwin said his teaching schedule would allow the flexibility needed to devote time to the committee.

Antonio Mendoza

Antonio Mendoza, 43, lives at 257 North Main St., with his wife, Zoraida, and son, Antonio, a freshman at Andover High School. The couple also has a daughter, Glorivee, a third-year student at UMass, Amherst.

The Mendoza family moved to Andover six years ago, when Mr. Mendoza was appointed the town's postmaster, a position he currently holds.

Mr. Mendoza said the School Committee will have to set priorities in funding projects such as additional space and maintenance.

Mr. Mendoza said a Proposition 2½ override is not the answer to the long-term financing problems he feels the Andover schools will face with continued reductions in state aid.

"The School Committee should work with the selectmen and the Finance Committee and come to a consensus of how to approach financing the town's needs," he said.

Mr. Mendoza is currently the president of the high school's Parent Advisory Council and the president of the Greater Lawrence Family Health Center. He was the founder of M.I.R.A., an information and referral center for the Greater Lawrence area.

He previously was a member of the Andover Business Industry and Education Collaborative Committee, the board of directors of the Merrimack Valley United Fund, Andover's representative to the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council Inc., and a member of the board of directors of the International Institute of Greater Lawrence.

Mr. Mendoza said his community involvement, especially at the high school, has prepared him to serve on the School Committee. He said if he is elected he will resign as PAC president and focus his energy on the School Committee.

Debra Silberstein

Debra Silberstein, 30, lives at 23 Burton Farm Drive, with her husband, Don, daughter, Allyson, who will be at Shawsheen School next fall, and 3-year-old son, David.

Mrs. Silberstein, who is a lawyer practicing in Salem, and her husband moved to Andover five years ago. She said she's been interested in running for School Committee for a few years, but didn't feel the time was right until now.

She said funding both essential school building maintenance and providing needed classroom space should be committee priorities.

"Somewhere down the line a Proposition 2½ override will be inevitable," said Mrs. Silberstein.

Before she would support an override, Mrs. Silberstein said she would investigate options such as user fees, or what she prefers to call "supplemental payment" for extra-curricular activities.

"I recognize that options like these have drawbacks, but they're worth

Patriotic Holiday Committee, the Street of Memorial Flags Committee, been a director of the Andover Federal Credit Union, president of the Andover Fireman's Relief Association and the Greater Lawrence Emergency Medical Service Council.

Downtown business

"I think we should do whatever we can to encourage business downtown and to prevent businesses from moving out," Mr. Downs said.

The lack of ample parking downtown is a problem, but other problems are due to changes in the economy and business in general, according to the candidate.

"I don't think you can blame the town for all these people that are going out of business," Mr. Downs said.

Some businesses fail because of poor business decisions, he said. Others are changing to adapt to business cycles and that's not necessarily bad, according to Mr. Downs.

Carlos Barcelos, who along with his brother, Jose, owns Barcelos market on Main Street, made a business decision in closing the grocery store, the candidate said.

"He's going out, but another business is going to come in," Mr. Downs said.

Town Manager

Good communication skills are among the qualities Mr. Downs is looking for in a new town manager.

Budget cuts
Andover is already taxing up to the levy limit of Proposition 2½ and future revenue reductions could cause residents to choose between cuts in services or voting for overrides, according to Mr. Downs.

"I believe our growth will drop next year and that is part of what Proposition 2½ was based on," Mr. Downs said.

"In 1981 and 1982, when Proposition 2½ was first proposed, the town supported it. Since then the town has done a pretty good job of staying within the limits," Mr. Downs said.

"I'm not saying the services haven't suffered, but we agreed as to where we'd put things off," he said. "Since 1982, we've neglected the infrastructure."

"Now, we're at the point where the citizens want us to stay within Proposition 2½, and they're not interested in voting for an override," he said. "They can't have it both ways."

But an override would not pass easily in Andover, Mr. Downs said.

"The only way an override would pass is it would have to be for a specific, important project. I don't think it would pass for general government."

Mr. Downs would not name any particular item or service he would be willing to put to a vote.

"You say be more specific. This is one of those things where I don't like the idea of cutting services," Mr. Downs said.

"First of all, public safety is one of the top priorities that you try to leave alone."

"All of the services that we provide have evolved over the years from the need for those services. I don't think there are any of these that I would be comfortable in cutting," Mr. Downs said.

Postal service

Mr. Downs wants postal service downtown and said he was always under the impression that an annex of some kind would be added at the Old Town Hall.

"When the post office moved out of the center of town down to Stevens St., the town manager, Ken Mahony at the time, was negotiating with the post office to put a postal annex in Old Town Hall," Mr. Downs said.

The announcement by post office officials during a public forum in January that they intended to close the Shawsheen substation in exchange for the downtown service caught Mr. Downs off guard.

The status of the Shawsheen postal service should not be tied into what happens in the downtown area, according to the selectman.

"Right now, up at Old Town Hall, I would like to see them put in an annex," Mr. Downs said.

"In a year or a year and a half, when their lease at Shawsheen runs out, they should address that situation under conditions that exist at that time."

There is also no reason for the town to buy the old post office building, according to Mr. Downs.

"I really can't see why the town would want to buy it at this time because we have no specified use for it. It's not really that big and there is no parking," he said.

Relationship to boards

The rapport between the Board of Selectmen and other town boards is good, but could be improved, according to Mr. Downs.

"I think it's good, but I think it could be better through better means of communications," he said.

"We do well with the boards. In fact, within the last few years, we've formed these joint meetings between the selectmen, the School Committee and the Finance Committee."

But the selectmen don't always get as much information as they need from other boards and town offices, according to the candidate.

"The town manager is a professional. The Board of Selectmen are part-time help," Mr. Downs said, adding that his fellow members don't necessarily like him saying that.

Sometimes it's hard to keep the board informed on some of the important issues in the town and neither the board members nor the town manager have the time to sit down and discuss every issue.

"We could make communications a little bit easier so we are better informed on these things," Mr. Downs said.

Schools

The DiNisco Kretsch report said Andover should spend approximately $15 million over the next few years to upgrade the school buildings. But all the items on the list cannot be funded under Proposition 2½, according to Mr. Downs.

"If the School Committee or the town wants to adopt the DiNisco report, in its entirety, they'll have to decide whether they want to go to an override," Mr. Downs said.

Women Voters

"I think the League of Women Voters has a great deal of interest in the operation of the town and I think they're an asset to the town," Mr. Downs said.

"They do a lot of work and they do in-depth studies, and they make recommendations and, most of the time, their recommendations are considered, by me anyway."

Role on the board

"I ran for the board because I really have a sincere interest in the town," Mr. Downs said.

"The only role I have to play on the board is that of using the best judgment I can and vote the way I feel is fair and just."

"I'm on the board for the best interests of the town."

Sue O'Neill

An override is in the near future for Andover schools and a postal facility downtown would provide greater service than the Shawsheen location does, according to Sue O'Neill, candidate for the Board of Selectmen.

Ms. O'Neill, 42, of 11 Argyle St., is making her first run for a seat on the board. A wife and mother of three, Ms. O'Neill is a former nurse, Vietnam veteran, Peace Corps volunteer and Townsman reporter.

She is a member of the Cable Advisory Committee and volunteers her time to several organizations including CLASS Inc., the Andover High chapter of A Better Chance, Lazarus House, the Merrimack Junior Theatre and the Andover Theatre Company.

She has lived in Andover six years, previously living in Bar Harbor and Hampden, Maine.

Downtown business

The downtown business community is a vital part of Andover and selectmen should do all they can to sustain it, Ms. O'Neill said.

"The selectmen are limited by the fact that you are talking about the open market," Ms. O'Neill said.

Board members missed an opportunity to show support for business with the recent vote to retain the 15 percent tax classification shift, according to Ms. O'Neill.

"I don't think, truthfully, that will make a hair's difference what will happen to the business, but I think it's a symbol. We have not given a vote of confidence to the businesses that we are truly trying to help them out."

"It's not fair in a bust economy."

Decisions such as the classification vote will come back to haunt the town when it comes time to ask for a Proposition 2½ override if businesses choose not to support it, according to Ms. O'Neill.

Town manager

Selectmen should be looking for a new town manager who recognizes the importance of a thriving downtown and who can lure business to Andover, but who also values open space, according to Ms. O'Neill.

"One of Ken Mahony's good traits is that he was able to help in attracting industry, in an orderly manner, to Andover," Ms. O'Neill said.

"His business acumen, his willingness to look behind the scenes," she credits Mahony's bringing business to town.

A new manager should recognize the image of a New England town, she said.

"It all comes down to a New England personality — someone who values the green spaces," she said.

Budget cuts

Residents are hostile to the idea of an override at this point, but either cuts in services or overrides are going to be necessary in the near future, according to Ms. O'Neill.

"We're kind of looking for a pot of gold that isn't there from the state," Ms. O'Neill said.

Any cuts would need to be clearly identified to be approved by residents.

"If the need were there, the re-

Mr. James R. Murray of Cincinnati made a short visit to friends in the village this week.

Mr. W.H. Kimball of the Seminary conducted the meeting at the hall last Sunday evening.

The village school enjoyed a holiday last Tuesday, the teachers devoting the day to visiting schools.

Mr. S. H. Boutwell will give a Bonnet Party at his home this evening. Several people from the village have been invited and will attend.

Mr. Charles Smith and Miss Agnes Smith, who have been visiting friends in the village for several months, left for their home in Cannon Falls, Minn., last Tuesday.

It will be well for the citizens of this town who contemplate a trip to Haggetts Pond to fish through the ice, to postpone it for a short time until the act of the annual town meeting. Fishing through the ice has been approved by the Fish Commissioner, but will not be allowed until a vote of town meeting.

A meeting of the Teachers' Club was held last Friday afternoon. An interesting paper on "How to obtain the greatest benefits from written examinations" was read by Miss Barry. This was followed by a general discussion of the subject of the paper. It was voted that a committee of three be chosen to prepare a list of topics, which are to be distributed to the teachers two weeks previous to the next meeting.

Each teacher is expected to come prepared to speak on the topic assigned to her. The committee appointed to prepare the list of topics consists of Miss McLawlin, Miss Battles and Miss Putnam.

The ladies of the Free Church held a sociable in the Frye Village hall yesterday afternoon and evening. The object of this meeting was for the benefit of those who live in this vicinity and find it inconvenient to attend the regular sociables at the church.

Townsmen readers of a few years back may remember the above photo when "Rings on My Fingers, Bells on My Toes" was presented in Pynchard Memorial Auditorium by members of grades 5 and 6 at St. Augustine's School for the annual St. Patrick's Day entertainment 50 years ago, on March 17, 1940. The production was directed by the late James Flannery, who was assisted by the Sisters of Notre Dame De Namur. Costumes were made by Mrs. Mark Surette, formerly of Locke Street, whose son took this photo. Tomorrow night at seven o'clock there will be a recount at the town hall of the votes cast for Board of Public Works. Monday, John B. White having nosed out George R. Cairns for second place by eight votes. This was the closest election since the contest between Town Clerk George Winslow and Charles Bowman, in which Mr. Winslow won by three votes, a recount giving the same result.

Andover's annual town appropriation meeting will get under way Monday evening at 7 in the Memorial auditorium to act on a warrant of 68 articles. No estimate is being made by the finance committee of a possible tax rate this year. But, in its report it states that recommended expenditures exceed last year's appropriations by $16,000. State funds were $13,150 in excess of similar funds available this year. There will be no such amount as last year's $25,000 available from free cash to reduce the tax rate this year.

Just ten days after Town Meeting voted to delay construction of a $375,000 Colonial-styled town hall on the Shaw property and three years after it dumped Urban Renewal with its $1 million police station and town house, Andover has approved construction of $700,000 quarters for the police and municipal offices.

The possibility of racial disorders has led to cancellation of the annual Safety Leaders trip to Washington, D.C., and the scheduling of an alternate trip.

He wants to pick a bone with State Rep. Tucker

Editor, Townsman:

I am writing to finish a phone conversation with our state representative, Susan Tucker. Since last July, I have been calling her every few months to reiterate my position on the continuing state budget crisis: reduce state spending. Today she hung up on me when I insisted that she and her legislative colleagues are not doing enough on the grounds that $1.2 billion in new taxes are needed. In fact, the amount has increased since last July.

Mrs. Tucker, you didn't give me a chance to end the conversation, so let me finish with the following facts. First, state spending has increased by 13.5 percent per year between 1984 and 1989, while the inflation rate has been only 5 percent per year. Second, "budget buster" costs (which you claim to be trying to control) will increase from under $3 billion (fiscal 1987) to over $5 billion (projected, fiscal 1991) or about 13 percent per year. As you know, these costs include Medicaid, debt service, group insurance for state employees, MBTA and state employee pensions.

Finally, according to the Massachusetts Taxpayer Foundation, the number of "equivalent positions" in executive agencies has been reduced by 4,339 between June 1988 and January 1990 because of layoff, attrition and retirement. Although reduction-in-force cannot, by itself, solve the budget problem, it does indicate that only 6 percent of the 69,736 positions (June 1988) have been eliminated, compared to overall spending increments at the 13-14 percent level.

In short, Mrs. Tucker, you are spending too much money and this is why we are in a financial mess. Your phone suggestion of possibly withholding local aid is an inappropriate solution. As we all know, this would be a de-facto tax without a legislative vote, since the cities and towns would have to increase property taxes to make up the difference (for example, to pay for raises in teacher salaries). Instead, I recommend a 10-percent across-the-board spending cut, or about $1.2 billion from a $12 billion dollar budget. Mrs. Tucker, how do you feel about that?

Mrs. Tucker's inappropriate responses symbolize the frustration of the legislature with a budgetary situation that has now reached crisis proportions because of legislative unwillingness to make hard and timely decisions. It seems that our elected officials have lost sight of the sound principle that you shouldn't spend more than you have. Raising taxes is not the answer because the problem has gotten and will continue to get worse. The answer is to reduce state spending. I think it's time for a change, not only in Andover but across the state.

PA student shocked and angered

Editor, Townsman:

As a student at Phillips Academy and the news editor of The Phillippian, I was shocked and angered by the poor judgment displayed by the Townsman last week in publishing such a degrading, unprofessional article on the front page about traffic supervisor David Cantone. The article, titled "Meter man: The one you love to hate," slanders Mr. Cantone in calling him "the most hated man in town" and belittles him as "the little three-wheel guy." In my opinion, he is simply doing his job. To put such nonsense in your newspaper, much less on the front page, is ludicrous.

If Stephen Prochniak feels that he is above the law and should not be ticketed for committing a traffic violation, perhaps it is he whom should be ridiculed. Furthermore, I was appalled by the unprofessional style of the article, in which Don Staruk writes, "Nobody throws anything (at Cantone). Nobody even yells at him. How disappointing. But, there will be other days." This is legitimate journalism?

With so many other important events going on in town, such as the closing of Barcelos supermarket, it seems that your newspaper could be providing the community with more insightful and pertinent stories. I hope that in the future the Townsman will serve as a forum to resolve tensions rather than create them.

Writer applauds traffic supervisor

Editor, Townsman:

I applaud David Cantone, Andover's traffic supervisor.

Don Staruk begins his article with "Meter man: The one you love to hate."

Why would anyone want to detest a person who is hired to ensure that laws are upheld?

Are we a society that just wants to look the other way and allow people to keep breaking these laws such as: double parking, parking in fire lanes, parking illegally in handicapped spaces, by not taking the right turn only out of the parking lot by Russems, by not taking the required right lane must turn right while in the right lane in front of Memorial Hall Library?

I know Andover has parking and traffic problems.

People are adding to the traffic problems by not adhering to the town laws.

Unless there is an emergency that requires your assistance, there is no excuse to infract parking and/or traffic laws.

stands to lose his or her job if his or her name is released and the employer doesn't like the fact that that person is out on the street.

So even though we don't like not being able to get our computer keyboards clacking away with a story, we agreed with the selectmen that those men were not fi-cult with their closed interviews.

We went back for a review of the Open Meeting Law and we had a talk with Gail Ralston, chairwoman of the Board of Selectmen, and we had to admit it: The board was within its rights. In addition, we understand the law, which in this case protects a person who

Now we have two names and the public will be able to call the selectmen or attend their meetings to say whatever they wish about the candidates.

Mr. Cantone responded well

Editor, Townsman:

I read your article on traffic supervisor David Cantone. I see Mr. Cantone and his vehicle frequently as he passes my house on Elm Street.

Today I was home having lunch when I heard a crash outside. As I looked out my window, I saw that an accident has just occurred in front of the Free Christian Church on Elm Street.

Mr. Cantone had just entered Elm Street and immediately pulled up to the scene of the accident. He immediately proceeded to assess the condition of both drivers. One woman had been injured and the other was quite shaken. Then Mr. Cantone called on his radio for an ambulance and a police cruiser. The response was very fast. The ambulance and police arrived simultaneously. From this point, Mr. Cantone began directing traffic while the police and ambulance crew assisted the drivers of the vehicle.

I would like to commend Mr. Cantone for his quick and efficient actions

Student took debate to heart

Editor, Townsman:

Over the past few weeks, many voices and opinions have been heard regarding the situation of the Andover teachers and the possibility of a strike. However, the most important voice, that of a student, has been silent. As a graduate of the Andover system, I took the debate between the teachers and the School Committee to heart.

I cannot express what the teachers in my life have done for me. My teachers cared for me not only as a student, but as an individual and a person. Their concern went beyond the classroom, into my home life, social life and my feelings. They were always there to support me and to talk with me. I believe that it was through that support and care that I was able to grow as a person and able to feel good about myself.

The teachers I have had are worth everything to me. If I could pay them back in some way I would. But I know that they are deserving of all that they have asked for and have gratefully received.

I'd like to give the School Committee credit for acknowledging the problem and respecting the teachers' situation. It is with the committee's settlement that students like myself will be able to continue to receive a quality education from quality people.

As a young person, I am still very influenced by the things that happen around me. It's very reassuring to know that people really can achieve goals through peaceful measures. Fighting has never been an answer in any situation.

As a student and as an alumnus, I'd like to thank the teachers who have been there for me and influenced me. Your deserving efforts have proven themselves righteous.

It was 167.14 tons of trash

By Virginia Cole

Andover people recycled 167.14 tons of paper in January. And we did it without attending one lecture at Landfill University!

At least, I'm assuming none of us attended. At least, no one from Andover Recycling Inc. did. This Landfill University is in Lisle, Ill., and I don't know whether you can just go or if you must be chosen, perhaps by lottery, but it does exist and is run by Waste Management Inc., the same owners of the big maroon trucks that take your trash and garbage away every week. Not in our neighborhood, where they must by contract take our waste to an incinerator, but in many parts of the country, waste still goes to landfills. Waste Management owns 125 of them and must keep them going to keep their business going.

They must squeeze every bit of capacity from them and try to find places to locate new ones. And the Environmental Protection Agency is right behind them, checking and threatening and closing all the time. There will be new and dramatically tougher operating and design rules in March for the 6,000 landfills presently in the United States.

And so, Landfill U. Waste Management sends its landfill managers through a crash seven-day program to keep them up to date and working efficiently.

Having seen a few dumps in our day, most of us don't think of the job as needing much expertise. There is always enough coming in, plenty of customers, so just dump and cover and there you are. But, for starters, landfills must now be equipped with synthetic or clay liners and underground drainage systems. That way the toxic liquids can't leach out and contaminate groundwater.

Company managers attending Landfill U. have courses in design, regulations and public relations and crisis management. Everyone knows the phrase, "Not in my backyard." A landfill manager certainly must need a diploma from Landfill U. to overcome that problem.

Theater group was polished

Editor, Townsman:

Last Friday evening, March 9, we went to the theater where we thoroughly enjoyed a most spirited musical. No, we were not in New York City nor Boston, but right here in Andover. The wonderful production we saw? "The Sound of Music."

Was it put on by a semi-professional traveling troupe? No. The actors and actresses were a very polished group of young people called the Merrimack Junior Theatre. Each of the 9 to 14 year olds seemed perfectly cast in their roles. The endless hours of rehearsing showed in the flawless grace with which each performed. The enthusiastic "standing O" response of the sold-out audience said it all — You young folks were great. And a word of appreciation to the many adults who gave of themselves to enrich the lives of many kids. Looking forward to next year's production.

Teachers thank parents

Editor, Townsman:

To the parents of West Elementary students:

We, the teachers at West Elementary, would like to thank you for your incredible support during our recent contract difficulties.

Your dedication in attending coffees, organizing petition drives, writing letters, picketing and telephoning officials made all the difference. Your words of encouragement kept our spirits up. Without your efforts, our contract would not have been settled.

In recognition of your hard work we have proclaimed March 12-16 West Parents Appreciation Week. We hope to be able to repay the kindness that you have shown to us.

Thanks again for your spirit and support.

Complains about bus speed

Editor, Townsman:

Is it any use to complain or report what I see of too fast or possibly dangerous driving of motor vehicles?

I am talking about fast driving by school buses, especially on the smaller roads. They push them to about the limit and still stay on the curves. On the small road I use a lot about 30 to 35 miles per hour is about top speed for most drivers. Some buses make a pick-up, take off, and are practically pushing me in surprisingly short time.

I have reported two instances (not lately) of buses going at reckless speed on a down-hill back road curve.

Possibly the school department has cut the number of buses very low and these drivers have to "make time" to do the job.

Are they allowed to drive in this "frantic speed" because of being a school bus?

Town manager candidates are narrowed to two

ard T. Howe, deputy secretary for the state's Executive Office of Communities and Development, are the two finalists for the manager position.

The Board of Selectmen will conduct public interviews with the two candidates Thursday, March 29.

The Board of Selectmen released the names of three finalists Monday night, prior to the Special Town Meeting.

A third candidate, Robert F. Ledger Jr., currently city manager of Durango, Colo., withdrew from the process Monday afternoon, citing family considerations, according to selectmen.

The announcement of the two finalists ends five months of confidential screenings and interviews during which selectmen whittled a list of 102 applicants down to 11.

Of those 11, five withdrew their names from consideration. One of those five was a woman about whom the selectmen had been very positive.

Mr. Stapczynski, 42, is a resident of Wilmington and has been that town's manager since 1981. He is married and has one child.

Mr. Stapczynski also served as assistant town manager in Wilmington for three years. Before that he was a fiscal analyst for the Department of Mental Health for two years, a municipal consultant in Connecticut and Massachusetts and a budget analyst for Fairfax County, Va. He has a post graduate certificate from the John F. Kennedy School of Government, a master's degree in public administration for the University of Kansas and a bachelor of arts degree from Catholic University of America in Washington.

D.C.

Mr. Howe

Mr. Howe, 43, lives in South Easton. He is married and has two children.

He has been with

EOCD for two and a half years.

Before going to work for the state, Mr. Howe spent four years as deputy director for executive programs at the Kennedy School of Government. He was town administrator for the town of Easton from 1979 to 1983 and an assistant director with the Massachusetts Municipal Association before that.

He has a master's degree in business administration and a bachelor of arts degree in government, both from Harvard University.

Mr. Howe is a graduate of Phillips Academy.

Hoopsters hit heights

By Rick Harrison

They played longer than any other athletic team at Andover High this winter, and reached heights never before attained locally in their sport.

The 1989-90 girls' basketball squad gave future AHS hoopsters something to shoot for, advancing three games into the Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament before a poor fourth quarter enabled Methuen to overhaul Coach George Sullivan's crew 50-43 in their semifinal round showdown.

No Andover girls' team had ever won two games in the tourney, and the final record of 15-8 ranks among the best ever posted by the Lady Warriors.

"It was a great season," said Sullivan in retrospect. "People said at the beginning of the year we wouldn't go far. But the girls worked hard and became a group of overachievers.

"We had some big victories and some very good times. The tournament win over Chelmsford (45-44 upset) has to rate among the biggest in the program's history, the victory over Methuen (45-39) on 'Senior Appreciation Night' was another milestone, and I'll never forget the comeback against Lowell. Down 10 points with two minutes left, we rallied to beat them (49-48).

"We didn't have a sharpshooter or any superstars," continued Sullivan. "But it will be hard to replace the attitude and work ethic of these kids."

The bad news is Andover will graduate its entire starting five of Co-Capt. Nicole Ricci, Co-Capt. Jodi Jangro, All-Conference selection Kara Slavin, Kim Daley and DeeDee Castignoli.

Michelle Black makes 1st team

By Rick Harrison

Outstanding Andover High girls' gymnast Michelle Black has been named a first-team Merrimack Valley Conference All-Star.

Black, a senior, was chosen as the MVC All-Conference performer in floor exercise.

Also recognized as All-Stars from Andover were three talented underclassmen, sophomore all-around standout Kasie Kearns, sophomore Tania Pierce and freshman Anne Milmoie.

The Andover girls put together one of the most successful seasons in their history, grabbing a third share of the MVC dual meet championship, finishing 8-1-0 overall, placing second to eventual state champ Dracut in the Conference Meet, and finishing seventh in the North Sectional state qualifying competition.

Second-year Coach Nancy Winitzer has directed the Lady Warriors to a 15-4-0 overall record the past two seasons.

Meaghan is the daughter of David and Ella Workman, 9 Lovejoy Road, and Anne is the daughter of Cornelius and Alexandra Milmoie, 1 Landau Lane.

Mite A's win tourney

The Andover Hockey Association Mite "A" hockey team won the Gib Kittredge Memorial Tournament in Pittsfield on March 4. Victories over Mite teams from Sheffield and a Mid-State team (Worcester/Auburn region) combined with a tie in the final game against Pittsfield clinched the tournament's top spot.

The Andover Mites defeated a very rough playing Sheffield team 8-2 on Friday. Josh Prudden scored five times. Danny Lombard, Mike Sheehy and Doug Henderson were other scorers. Strong performances from Dave Morin, Justin Accomando, Mike Sheehy, Tim Dunning, Sean Murphy and goalie Mike Johnson were the key to the win. Dave Morin and Doug Shahian were credited with two assists each while Danny Lombard set up two of Andover's goals.

Andover beat a strong Mid-State team on Saturday with a score of 7-1. Josh Prudden again led the team with four goals and two assists. Danny Lombard racked up two goals and two assists. Doug Shahian scored the final goal in the

"Ouch, that hurts!" said Sullivan. "But we have a good crop of recruits coming up and a solid nucleus of varsity reserves returning."

Expected to return are varsity underclassmen Grace Perry, Liz Hanson, Zahia Kattar, Lindsay Sweeney and Nancy Hoffman.

Among the top players from the 18-3 junior varsity squad are Beth Everett, Kerri Haggerty, Stephanie Kupa, Amy O'Sullivan, Melissa McNamara and Meghan Mueller.

"I'm optimistic about next year," offered Sullivan, whose three-year record is 42-22 with three consecutive tournament appearances. "But we definitely will have our work cut out for us. Right now it looks like we'll be very small."

Methuen, 50-43

The Lady Warriors' season came to an abrupt halt four victories shy of a state title.

It was the fourth time Andover and Methuen had locked horns this winter, the Rangers coming away victorious on three occasions.

"Four games is too many against the same opponent," said Sullivan. "But there was nothing we could do about it."

AHS came in with six victories in its previous seven games, including tourney upsets of higher seeds Arlington (52-42) and Chelmsford.

"I was afraid of two things before the game," said Sullivan. "I thought we might 'out-psyche' ourselves and lose our poise, and I was afraid the referees would swallow their whistles. Unfortunately that's exactly what happened.

Aron Bellorado, son of Christine Bellorado, 7 Aspen Circle, gives it his all in the Buddy Werner League's last meet. He won the Zanni Award, given within each team for the single highest point scorer. Skiing in the 8 and 9 group, his times are often competitive in the three older age divisions. An outstanding individual achiever, Aron displays a great sense of the team spirit of competitive skiing, according to his coaches.

Eleanor Roosevelt and others will be in Andover

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Eleanor Roosevelt is coming to Andover, not to mention Jackie Kennedy, Mary Lincoln, Julia Tyler and Rachel Jackson. These former first ladies will appear on the stage at Old Town Hall on Sunday, April 1, at 2:30 p.m.

Robin Lane, sponsored by the Andover Historical Society, will present Ladies First, her one-woman show about a group of women who have left their mark on American history. There is an admission fee. Further information can be obtained from the Andover Historical Society.

The drama begins with Miss Lane playing a hopeful actress who pays her bill by working as a guide in a museum of the memorabilia of first ladies. As closing time approaches and visitors leave, the guide strolls among the collection. She muses about the lives of the women whose private possessions are on public display and, in handling them, becomes that first lady. We hear the plaintive sadness of Mary Todd Lincoln, exonerated for her spendthrift ways and accused of madness. Wearing a 19th-century shawl and bonnet, Miss Lane evokes the benighted Mrs. Lincoln who fiercely defends herself from the "vampire press."

Surrounded by life-size renditions of the First Ladies, Miss Lane moves from one to the other, fingering and donning their apparel and accessories. She becomes one, then another, speaking in the first person. Rachel Jackson bore the brand of a scarlet woman when it was revealed that she had married Andrew when her divorce from an abusive husband was not final. The label became a major political issue as the ladies of Washington refused to receive her socially and the president battled their husbands in defense of his wife.

Julia Tyler's life was one of gaiety. Much younger than her husband, John, she loved the White House and all its perks. She wrote poetry, played the guitar and laughed at criticism. While Eleanor Roosevelt did not find much cause for laughter in her life, she remains perhaps America's most admired First Lady for her unceasing efforts on behalf of the unfortunate over many decades. Miss Lane depicts Mrs. Roosevelt reminiscing on her 75th birthday about the road she had traveled since her childhood with an alcoholic father and a beautiful mother who rejected her because of her lack of comeliness.

Finally Miss Lane becomes the whistery-voiced Jackie Kennedy whose demeanor is etched so indelibly on America's collective memory. From girlhood to Camelot to the soul-searing events of Nov. 22, 1963, she portrays the First Lady who is most familiar to Americans today. It is a perspective infrequently seen.

Miss Lane's portfolio bulges with letters from appreciative audiences in many states, including colleges, historical societies and institutions such as Lexington's Museum of Our National Heritage. The Andover Historical Society is presenting Ladies game, assisted by Tim Sheehy. Mike Johnson's near-shut-out in goal was a key to this victory as were strong two-way performances from wingers Scott Tedrick, Tim Sheehy and Doug Shahian and center Doug Henderson.

First as a fund-raiser for its educational programs.

On Sunday the Andover Mites met their host team, Pittsfield. The Pittsfield Mites took a 4-1 lead in the second period. Coaches Mike Lombard, Alan Johnson and Clark Tedrick rallied the players to reorganize, play one shift at a time and work as a team to keep the pressure on.

The players responded with remarkable poise. Shut-out goaltending from Mike Johnson in the third period and two hard-earned goals from Doug Henderson and Josh Prudden were enough to gain the 4-4 tie and the Gib Kittredge Tournament championship. Andover obtained its scoring punch from Doug Henderson (two goals) and Doug Shahian (one goal and one assist). The line of Doug Henderson, Tim Sheehy and Doug Shahian saved its best performance of the tournament for the crucial third game. Other stars in this game were wingers Scott Tedrick and defensemen Tim Dunning, Sean Murphy, Justin Accomando and Mike Sheehy.

Teammates Meghan Munroe and Mike Murphy were unable to make the trip to Pittsfield.

Matt Liberty swims to 6th

Matt Liberty, a freshman at Andover High School, placed sixth overall in the New England Age Group swimming championships at Brown University in Providence, R.I.

Swimming in the 13-14 age group, Matt finished first in New England in the 200-yard butterfly event; third in the 500, 1,000 and 1,650-yard freestyle events; fourth in the 200 and 400-yard individual medley events; sixth in the 100-yard butterfly and 200-yard freestyle; and 14th in the 100-yard freestyle and contributed to third-place finishes on three relay teams.

Diana Liberty, a sixth-grader at West Middle School, received a championship medal for her eighth-place finish in the 500 yard freestyle. She swims in the 11-12 age group.

The Merrimack Valley Pirates, for whom Matt and Diana swim, finished fourth in New England out of 55 participating teams. The Pirates practice at the Greater Lawrence Technical High School and are coached by Rick Battistini, who also coaches the Haverhill High girls' varsity swim team and Andover High boys' varsity swim team.

St. R's trims St. A

By Rick Harrison

Division scoring leaders Matt Wolcott and Todd Kobelski combined talents for 28 points as undefeated St. Robert's (7-0) trimmed St. Augustine D, 45-33, clinching at least a tie for the Andover Church Basketball League Senior Division title.

Peter Gigliotti and Tim Foley kept St. Augustine B (5-2) firmly entrenched in second place, meanwhile, as that club rallied from a first-half deficit to overhaul Faith Lutheran 32-29.

In a quirk of the schedule that had them playing each other a second consecutive week, St. Augustine A reversed a four-point loss to Ballardvale United by squeezing past that club, 16-13.

Division play concludes for the 1989-90 season this Sunday with three games at the Andover High gym. St. Augustine C facing Ballardvale (3 p.m.), Faith Lutheran battling St. Augustine D (4 p.m., court 1), and St. Robert's engaging St. Augustine B (4 p.m., court 3).

Wolcott continues to lead the division scoring race by a wide margin, his 126 points well ahead of teammate Kobelski's 80.

Other leaders are Justin Connors of Faith Lutheran with 54, Matt Blake (SAC) 52, Tim Foley (SAB) 51, Mike Trombly (BU) 48, Dave Kelmer (SAD) 40 and Erik Breiland (FL) 40.

Only two teams in the division have winning records, while all seven have registered at least two victories this season. St. Robert's is also the only team that has scored more points than it has allowed.

St. Robert's, 45-33

St. Robert's built its lead over St. Augustine D a little at a time, inching ahead 10-6 after one quarter, 21-14 at halftime and 35-22 after a key 14-8 third-period run.

Todd Kobelski was game-high marksman with 16 points, 12 of them split evenly between the first and third quarters.

Matt Wolcott added 12, Mike Murphy 6, Tom Gardner 4, Kevin Shepard 3, Mike Leone 2 and John Byrnes 2 for the division leaders.

Dave Kelmer had his biggest game of the season for St. Augustine D, tossing through 15 points, while Chris Brown netted 6 and Chris Hoffman 4.

Adding one bucket apiece for SAD were Tom Daley, Tim Connors, Brian Talbot and Ryan Lisiak.

Both teams went to the free throw line just twice and both converted once.

St. Augustine A, 16-13

After dropping a 22-18 decision to taller Ballardvale United the week before, scrappy St. Augustine A took advantage

"Methuen is a very physical team to begin with, and they climbed on our backs the entire game. Kara (Slavin) was wailed on and few calls were made."

The Rangers, on the other hand, marched to the line in a steady stream the fourth quarter. And, to their credit, converted 12-of-14 down the stretch to key the victory.

Wendy Tamis was 5-for-6 and Tara Mansour 5-for-7 at crunch time.

"The foul line killed us in the fourth quarter," related Sullivan. "That was the story. And for the game they were 16-for-27 and we were just 8-for-15 (including 5-for-8 in the fourth period)."

The game was tied 8-8 after one quarter, Methuen led 21-19 at halftime, and the Lady Warriors carried a 34-28 lead into the last stanza before Methuen escaped on a decisive 22-9 run.

"Our girls were intimidated by the Methuen fans," said Sullivan. "They arrived early with painted faces, towels — the whole works. We had a late-arriving crowd, and it psyched our kids out."

"After a pretty good start in the first period, we began forcing the ball and throwing it around in the second quarter. Fortunately we played good defense and that enabled us to stay close."

"At halftime I gave them something to be afraid of — me!" said Sullivan with a laugh. "I took out a newspaper article and put it on the board. The article said that since we'd beaten Chelmsford it paved the way for Methuen to go to the final."

"The girls got the message and rose to the occasion in the third period. We played excellent ball, took a six-point lead, and had the momentum our way until the fouls (and non-fouls) turned it around."

Kara Slavin led the Andover attack with 13 points, including a three-point bomb with two seconds left in the game.

Jodi Jangro contributed 11 points and five rebounds, Nicole Ricci five points and six boards, and DeeDee Castignoli had four points, 10 rebounds.

Kim Daley pocketed four points, Grace Perry four and Lindsay Sweeney two.

Methuen's Tara Mansour led all markswomen with 17 points, Wendy Tamis added 12, Britta Pitochelli eight and Beth Pickles seven.

The Rangers were subsequently ousted from the tournament by Bishop Fenwick, 63-58, in the Division 1 North championship game.

Fenwick eliminated Andover 49-43 last year in the Lady Warriors' opening tourney test.

Ms. Ralston explains process

Editor, townsman:

Now that the names of our town manager finalists have been presented, I would like to offer some insights into the board's responsibility during the election process so that you — the residents of Andover — may clearly understand just how much a part of the search process you have played and will continue to play.

To begin with, the selection of a town manager is, without a doubt, the greatest and most significant task any town board of selectmen can undertake. In reality, the town manager sets the tone for the entire governmental operation. His or her attitude toward "public" service is passed along to the staff, which in turn answers to the public. This attitude can either instill trust in the government or it can suspend communication to the extent that the public is not served and, in fact, begins to question all phases of the operation.

The Board of Selectmen is given the responsibility, through the election process, of insuring that the town manager carries out the policy of the citizens. To that end, the relationship between the town manager and the board must be based on trust, confidence in the manager's administrative capabilities, ongoing communication and a clear definition of priorities for the town.

When the current board was notified of Mr. Mahony's resignation, we immediately set into motion the advertising process and ended up with 102 letters of interest that were offered for our consideration. In a public meeting, the decision was made for the board itself to act as a search committee, as opposed to naming a citizens' committee or to bringing in an outside consultant to oversee the various phases. Combining our diverse interests and backgrounds, we felt, as representatives of the town, that we were in the best position of finding that one individual who would have an excellent public rapport, outstanding administrative skills, a "crackerjack" financial background, a strong commitment to our town and to the town meeting form of government and one who had no "skeletons in the closet" — that's certainly not too much to ask for our town. Furthermore, the board agreed to continue the search until such an individual was found.

An absolutely essential part of the initial screening phase was public input, which the board sought by soliciting oral and written testimony. This input proved to be invaluable in both our screening of applications and in our formulation of questions during the initial interviews. Combining our individual vision of a town manager, we unanimously arrived at the point of three candidates whom we are presenting for the town's consideration.

Now that this initial screening process is complete and we have moved into the public sphere, we will spend the next two weeks seeking reactions to and information about the three finalists. This phase will culminate with public interviews of the finalists, at which time the board, in public, will discuss whether it is ready to name a town manager.

At this point I would like to offer my thanks to the participants in this process. Appreciation is certainly owed to the applicants who put their trust in Andover's commitment to respecting confidences and conducting an interview process where everyone was given fair consideration. I must thank our personnel director, Mary Lyman, who made herself available day and night in order to fit each board member's schedule. The other members of the Board of Selectmen — Jim Barenboim, Jerry Silverman, Charlie Wesson and Bill Downs — have put in many hours each reviewing all 102 applications individually and are owed public thanks for their dedication to the town residents. And last, but not least, I would like to thank you, the public, for your interest and insights.

However, our work is not finished and we need to be more diligent than ever in this final stage. The shaping of our town's future is at stake, as I'm sure you will understand. I have appreciated this opportunity that the Townsman has given to me to address the public so that I may emphasize that the town manager search is a true community effort. I feel we have all acted with dignity and determination and I am confident that our final choice of town manager will be the right one.

They shoot fouls

Luke Pulverenti of St. Augustine B finished first and Danny Gosselin of St. Augustine B and Chris Kearn of St. Robert A were co-runners-up in the Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate Division annual foul shooting contest at the West Middle School gym.

Pulverenti hit 27 of 40 from the foul stripe while Gosselin and Kearn had 26 conversions each.

Other top performers were: Brendan Long, SAB, 23; Will Cohen, Ballardvale United, 21; Kevin Farrar, SRA, 21; Andy Parker St. Augustine D, 20; Brian Tisbert, BU, 18; Mark O'Sullivan, SRA, 18; Mark Hegarty, SAD, 15; Ryan Games, St. Robert B, 14; Michael Monteiro, SRA, 14; Joe Hogarty, SAA, 14; and Eric Sayers, SAD, 13.

St. R's trims St. A's

of Mike Trombly's absence to hustle its way to this low-scoring triumph.

BU led 4-2 after the opening stanza, but SAA won it with a 12-5 scoring edge in the middle two periods.

Peter Volpe led the assault with 6 points, Rick Crispo and Jon Germain notched 4 points each, and Scott Nickelson completed the offense with a pair of free throws.

Mike Mano countered with 5 points for BU, Aaryn Schmul pocketed 4 in the first half, Jeremy Morrison 2 and Greg Litchfield 2.

St. Augustine B, 32-29

The tightest game of the day pivoted on the play of Peter Gigliotti and Tim Foley, both of whom shot well from the outside for St. Augustine B.

Gigliotti, who scored eight points in the second half, was also dangerous down the lane as he added several driving layups.

Faith Lutheran, whose three-game win streak was snapped, led 7-4 after one quarter and 16-15 at half.

But Foley and Gigliotti combined for 10 third-period points as SAB moved ahead, 26-23, and the rivals then traded hoops in the final stanza.

Gigliotti finished with 12 points, Foley had 9, Sean Croteau 4, Tim Sullivan 4 and Ned Finneran 3 for the Senior runners-up.

Justin Connors, who scored all seven Lutheran points in the opening quarter and six of FL's seven in the third session, emerged game-high with 13.

Connors' inside play has shown steady improvement this season, and the trick will be to keep the tall youngster in town (his brother went to Choate Academy).

Erik Breiland pumped through 7 points for Lutheran, Greg Foltz had 3, and single field goals were tossed in by Dave Douglas, Scott Gray and Aaron Russo.

Church B's defeat C's

St. Augustine's B, the undefeated Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate Division (10-11 years) leaders, rode a 10-0 first-quarter run to a 22-9 victory over intra-church rival St. Augustine's C and beat St. Robert B 28-26 in recent action at the Andover High School gym.

St. Robert's A topped St. Robert's B 22-7 and Ballardvale United grabbed a share of second place with a 27-13 win over St. Robert's A and a 36-10 win over St. Augustine's A 36-10.

South Church gained its first win of the season against St. Augustine's D 26-10 and upended St. Augustine's A 18-10 and St. Augustine's C stopped St. Augustine's D 34-8. St. Augustine's B, 22-9.

St. Augustine's B held on to their early advantage to defeat St. Augustine's C 22-9.

SAB led 10-0, 12-1 and 18-3 at the first three checkpoints.

Brendan Long had eight points, Patrick Annese and Louis Campobianco added six each and Adam Espinola had two.

Mark McGarry had five points for SAC, Shaun Connors two and Jeff Scaia two.

St. Robert's A, 22-7.

St. Robert's A parlayed a balanced offense with a stingy defense to subdue St. Robert's B 22-7.

SRA led 7-4 after one quarter, 12-5 at halftime and 16-7 after three periods.

Glen Siniawski pumped in six points and Jon Adams, Chris Kearn, Kevin Farrar and Keith Grant had four points apiece.

Ryan Games had five points for SRB and Corry McLaughlin added a fieldgoal.

Ballardvale United, 36-10.

Ballardvale United overpowered St. Augustine's C 22-9.

Ski teams finish well

The Andover High School girls' and boys' Alpine ski teams finished the season with two special events.

The North Shore League's Interscholastic Race brought the girls and boys together for two runs on the same race course on the same day for the first time this season. The six girls' teams and eight boys' teams entered their best eight of 15 varsity racers. The race started at 3:30 p.m. with a light snow falling on an icy course and finished in the early evening under the lights.

Six of the eight girls completed both runs and scored points. Amy Heislein had a combined time of 49.84 seconds to take first place in the league and Amy Heseltine took second place with a time of 50.30 seconds. Andover took second place with 145 points to North Andover's 166 points.

It was not a very good day for the boys' team. Pushing very hard did not result in anyone making it into the top 10 places. Andover's final point standing was seventh place.

The Massachusetts State High School championships were held March 6 at the Berkshire East ski area in Charlemont. As the second-place league finisher, Andover sent a team of seniors Amy Heislein

Salazar tops the club

Julie Salazar of Andover, a freshman at Ithaca College in Ithaca, N.Y., recently topped the women's basketball club with 17 points in a game against Rochester Tech, which they won, 86-84.

and Jen Brodie, juniors Jen Colangeli, Kerry Grieco and Heather Read (alternate) and sophomore Amy Heseltine to compete against 12 top ranking state teams.

Out of 90 girls racing, Amy Heislein took second place on her giant slalom run. A fifth place finish in slalom and 73.15 seconds total time earned her second place overall. Amy Heseltine also had a very good day with two ninth places and ninth overall with a total time of 76.62 seconds.

All Andover girls earned points and took fifth place out of the 13 teams competing.

Terry Retelle was the only boy making the cut from Andover and did very well. Out of the 107 boys racing, he took a 13th place in slalom and 16th in giant slalom for a combined time of 71.98 seconds and placed 17th.

The two Amys made the 10 racer Massachusetts State team to participate in the United States Ski Association High School championships held March 9 to 11 at the Gunstock Ski Area in Gilford, N.H.

All the racers on the varsity and junior varsity teams worked very hard and steadily improved. The booster club provided extra training and equipment.

PeeWees to hit tourney

The Andover PeeWee A hockey team will participate in the Amateur Hockey Association of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts (AHACM) State Division I PeeWee Tournament this weekend in Brockton and Rockland. Sixteen teams from across the state have qualified through district tournament play.

The Andover team will face off against Wilbraham/Twin Meadows (Central Mass.) on Friday, March 16, at 6:25 p.m. at the Rockland rink. Andover will play Parkway (Roxbury/Jamaica Plain/Rosindale) on Saturday at 8:10 a.m. and face Hanover (South Shore) at 4:20 p.m. at the Rockland rink. If successful, the Warriors would advance to the state semifinals Sunday in Brockton.

The Andover team competes in the top divisions of the Dual State and Valley leagues and sports a combined overall record of 34-16-6. They won the Andover Cup Invitational PeeWee Hockey Tournament with a 2-1 win over New Hampshire State runner-up, Concord.

Andover's offense is led by Ryan Moynihan, who scored 74 goals and assisted on 50 for 124 points in 56 games. Jeff Pothier has 45 goals while Scott Munroe netted 31 to go along with his 48 assists for 79 points. Ryan Jacobson (25) and David Wartman (24) are top goal scorers while Tim McGovern is third in assists with 43. Other top point scorers are Dana DiFiore (45), David Bailey (37), Marc Escott (33) and Tom Felago (31).

The Warriors have relied on a tight defense provided by Danny Hansberry, David Bailey, Peter Volpe and Brian Kwon. David Wartman has split the season between forward and defense and has been a valuable player at both positions. While the offense has averaged 5.02 goals per game, the defense and goaltending of Peter Afarian and Jason Veilleux have limited the opposition to 2.67 goals per game. Afarian and Veilleux have combined for nine shutouts on the season.

Andover 8 - Amesbury 2

Andover PeeWees outskated Amesbury this weekend by an 8-2 score. Jeff Pothier led the attack with a three-goal hat trick. Ryan Moynihan had two goals and two assists while Danny Hansberry scored two goals on slap shots from his point position. Dana DiFiore had a goal and assist. Other assists were registered by Tom Felago, Brian Kwon and Scott Munroe.

Articles pass

Voters approved article 1, which cut $1,116,312 from the 1990 budget. The cuts were in response to the reductions in state aid made by the Dukakis administration last summer.

Article 2 accepted an Equal Educational Opportunity Grant for the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School.

Approval of article 3 will allow the town to begin quarterly tax billing in fiscal 1991 starting this July 1.

Informative discussion

Article 1 provoked several questions from residents.

The article was voted on in two parts. The first vote took $600,745 from the town side of the budget. The second vote cut $570,000 from schools.

Joanne Marden, chairwoman of the Finance Committee, drew applause from the crowd when explaining the need for approval of the cuts.

"One of the reasons the state is in so much trouble is that it kept on spending even though revenues were not there. We cannot afford to make the same mistake," Ms. Marden said.

"Can someone tell me what would happen if we did not pass it?" asked Steven Bloom, of 36-E Lincoln Circle.

"We would be using funds we haven't received and, in effect, borrowing from fiscal 1991," Mr. Torrisi said.

Both Ms. Marden and Mr. Torrisi said during the meeting that the fiscal 1991 budget, to be voted on at the June Town Meeting, could be as much as $2 million short and more cuts are probably going to have to be made then.

"We will either have cuts to make or we will be looking for additional revenues," Ms. Marden said.

Mrs. Tilghman, School Committee chairwoman, while endorsing the cuts that needed to be made this year, tried to explain to residents the broad picture of what is happening to the schools.

She compared the school system to a game her children play.

The players first build a pyramid of small blocks. The object of the game is then for each player, one by one, to remove blocks from the base of the pyramid and place them on top, being careful not to damage the structure in the process. The game ends when one to many blocks is finally removed and the entire structure collapses.

"This is what we are doing. We are dismantling our school system," Ms. Tilghman said.

Town Moderator James Doherty made note that Ms. Tilghman is resigning her position on the committee and that this would be the last time she would address the Town Meeting.

"We are going to miss you," Mr. Doherty said.

Sue Tucker blamed what she called the 1980s' "New Federalism" on the problems the state is facing today.

Ronald Reagan's policy of pulling the federal government out of state and local programs left the state holding the bag on urban and community development. The state was booming and could afford to pick up the extra costs at the time, Rep. Tucker said.

sponsibility of the town would be to provide a budget to the people that would have very clearly laid out what cuts would mean," she said.

The first override proposal will probably be for the schools, according to Ms. O'Neill.

"But I don't think it will happen this year. I think it will be two years down the line. I think people will probably have to hurt before they consider it," she said.

Schools

The schools are not going to be able to undertake, over the next few years, the massive spending programs outlined in the DiNisco report without Proposition 2½ overrides, according to Ms. O'Neill.

"I don't think we're going to finance the level of education we've always wanted in Andover without overriding," she said.

But if two-thirds of Andover residents can pay an average of $28 a month for cable television, Ms. O'Neill said, they should be able to support the schools.

"How much is it to ask them to pay a few extra dollars on a yearly tax bill to make sure the quality of education is what it would be in a town like this," she said. "You can't do it on bake sales.

"Along that line we really have an obligation to take care of those who can't take care of themselves. That's what makes a community happen.

"Anyone of us, by a stroke of luck, could need the help of our community, and we have no right to demand that, or ask for that, unless we are willing to give it."

Postal service

Ms. O'Neill would sacrifice postal service in Shawsheen, her own neighborhood, in exchange for a full service postal annex downtown.

"I would like to see a postal service of some sort in the Old Town Hall with boxes," she said, "and some sort of unmanned service in Shawsheen."

The town should not consider buying the old post office building, Ms. O'Neill said.

"I don't think we can justify it in the financial climate. Right now, it would raise a great hue and cry among the townspeople," she said.

Selectmen vs. town boards

The relationship between the Board of Selectmen and other town boards and offices could be improved with better communication, Ms. O'Neill said.

"I know that there is a room that selectmen can use at town hall. I would like to have office hours a morning a week up there, and a morning a week at the senior center with an open office," she said.

"Ken Mahony was the one everyone went to in town hall because he was the only one everyone could find in town hall," she said.

YMCA begins its campaign

Ten toddlers gather around their teacher in a YMCA child care site for story time. Breathless anticipation best describes the scene as the children await the opening page to be read.

You might think this is a pretty normal scene. However, you'd find that three of the children in the room might not be growing and learning without the help of YMCA Reach Out For Youth supporters. Financial assistance makes child care a reality for some families and gives the parents a chance to work secure in the knowledge their children are well cared for.

The Merrimack Valley YMCA has kicked off its 1990 annual support campaign, Reach Out For Youth. One of the benefits of the current campaign is to provide the chance for people to participate in YMCA programs regardless of their financial status. The campaign goal is $30,000 — $15,000 each from the Andover/North Andover and Lawrence branches of the YMCA.

Gerald Silverman and Barbara Sullivan from Andover and Barry Burbank from North Andover are campaign chairs of the Andover/North Andover Branch.

The open office hours could take some of the heat off the town manager and put board members more in touch with the residents, Ms. O'Neill said.

"Coming in in person certainly beats talking to a phone machine," she said.

Role on the board

"What I would like to be on the board is a facilitator of communication," Ms. O'Neill said. "If I were to have office hours it would give me a chance to get a handle on what people need and want.

"It would also give me the chance to let people know what the consensus or feeling of the board on a particular issue might be."

League of voters

"I feel that the League of Women Voters serves a very visible and important function in town in giving people more access to government," Ms. O'Neill said.

"I'm grateful to the league, as a former reporter, for their work in making documents more accessible."

Ms. O'Neill is looking forward to working with the new leadership of the league and particularly with Janice Burkholder, possibly the next president of the group.

"I have a great deal of respect for her. She's very organized. She has a good sense of humor and she does her homework," Ms. O'Neill said.

"I think she'll be a real moving asset in the '90s"

Likes Town Meeting

Ms. O'Neill values the town meeting form of government and recognizes that it's a threatened institution.

"It gives you the feeling of being in charge of what's going on in your town, or at least having a say in it. It's almost a dinosaur in the 20th century, but it's a lovely, lovely dinosaur," she said.

YMCA begins

Gerald White of Methuen and Jim Henderson of North Andover are chairing the Lawrence branch campaign.

The monies raised will assist both branches to provide financial assistance. More than $46,000 in financial assistance was made available during 1989 by the two branches. The Reach Out For Youth campaign supplements assistance by the Merrimack Valley United Fund. Because of the United Fund's fundraising shortfall this year and the cut in the Lawrence Y's allocation, this campaign is needed more than ever.

Some 150 volunteers from the Greater Lawrence area served by the branches will be working on the campaign over the next four weeks. Jack L. Moltenbrey, general director of the Merrimack Valley YMCA, says that campaign members help strengthen each of the branches. "In addition to strengthening the YMCA financially, volunteers have the opportunity to spread the word about the unique programs their branch is running. It might be a gymnastics program in Andover or an Itty Bitty Baseball League in Lawrence, each branch of the YMCA is providing programs needed in their communities," he said.

The Merrimack Valley YMCA served more than 10,000 people in the past year. Thanks to YMCA volunteers and every Reach Out For Youth member, the Merrimack Valley YMCA can provide their programs to more people.

Reducing house breaks

By Kevin Winters

Breaking and entering is a problem that concerns all police agencies. There are many ways to reduce the number of occurrences beyond the usual security devices.

Basic crime prevention encourages better locks on all doors and windows. Andover has quite a few homes that have alarms that sound at the residence or combines the alarm with phone lines to notify the police department. The recording of serial numbers on electronic devices or etching Social Security numbers on these items to make them identifiable is a good idea. All of these recommendations are excellent but should be combined with neighborhood awareness.

In today's society most homes are vacant during the day due to the fact that most families live on dual incomes. Criminals who commit break-ins use empty houses to their advantage.

Reducing house breaks

(Continued from page 57) Being aware of your neighborhood and the usual daily activity could be a key in reducing a break at your neighbor's or your home.

A suspicious vehicle traveling at a slow rate of speed or a parked vehicle that is unknown could possibly be a breaker. This combined with knowledge that your neighbor is not home could indicate a possible break-in may occur.

Another method used is for a person to ring a doorbell and ask for directions to a street nearby. In most cases the homeowner will not be suspicious since the inquiry is for a street right around the corner. Most criminals know this and will watch for street signs to legitimize the request. The criminal will then go down the street to another home with the same request. If there is no answer at the door, they know the home is vacant and will possibly break in.

What should you report to the police department? Any activity that you feel is suspicious or unusual should be reported. Any information you observe, such as vehicle description or persons involved, should be included. The Andover Police Department would prefer to inquire as to a person's activity in a neighborhood as opposed to responding to a past break-in. All public participation would help reduce crimes in the town of Andover.

School collects used glasses

The Doherty Middle School, in cooperation with the Andover Lion's Club, is organizing a public service drive to aid the less fortunate.

The groups are collecting used eyeglasses, which will be repaired, sorted and shipped to those who need them.

The groups are asking for help from Andover residents. Drop-off boxes have been placed in local businesses, schools and banks.

It is not necessary to have the glasses be in cases, or be wrapped, but it would be appreciated if they were. The two groups have a goal of 500 glasses collected by March 30.

"We were lowering taxes at the same time we were giving this money back to cities and towns," she said.

But that time has passed and Ms. Tucker warned that more reductions in state aid could be coming this June.

Entertaining

Donal Coleman, of 91 High St., took advantage of the forum to state several opinions on the state government, the Democrats and Congressman Chester G. Atkins (Dem).

Mr. Coleman, although he has not yet formally announced, is planning to challenge Mr. Atkins for his seat in congress this fall.

Mr. Coleman proposed an amendment to the Town Meeting warrant that would have taken $35,000 from the Merrimack Valley Transit Authority, which he said was being wasted on buses that didn't have passengers. He proposed giving $17,500 of the money to programs for the elderly and $17,500 to the schools.

Thayer Warshaw, of 45 Clark Road, and a former transit representative, put a stop to Mr. Coleman's amendment.

"For a Town Meeting to cut services to bus routes without at least some semi-professional investigation makes no sense whatsoever," Mr. Warshaw said.

The ensuing vote overwhelmingly vetoed the idea.

After Mr. Coleman's third or fourth trip to the microphone to comment on one issue or another, residents began yelling at him to "sit down" and "shut up."

Andover leads in this fundraiser

Recent figures from the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation show that Andover is among the towns raising the most money for the organization's Mothers March fund-raising campaign, which began in January.

Volunteers from Andover have collected $3,185 so far, which goes toward the March of Dimes Campaign for Healthier Babies.

Last year $8,728 of the total $349,000 raised in the Mothers March was collected in Andover. The Massachusetts Chapter expects to raise $450,000 this year.

Jacqueline Rogers and Lois Fisher of Andover have each collected more than $100 in contributions from their neighbors, counting them among the top Mothers Marchers in the state.

The March of Dimes emphasizes that the Mothers March is more than a fund-raising campaign. "The volunteers also distribute potentially life-saving information about prenatal care," says Christine Montilio, chairperson of the March of Dimes Massachusetts chapter. "We use this opportunity to share important health messages with people across the state and to let our supporters know that their contributions are enabling more babies to be born healthy."

Photo USA's portrait studio allows the customer to see the results of the proofs in one hour and choose from several packages at that time. Developing and printing are done on site. The photos are available the next day. Customers appreciate the results of the personal attention given at the sitting. This is particularly important for school and graduation pictures. If the student is dissatisfied with the school photographer's photos, he may have Photo USA take pictures and be able to see the results of the proofs in just five minutes. This school package is less expensive and quicker. It includes a sitting, negatives and proofs for $24.00 and an additional $15.00 for two 8x10's, two 5x7's and 10 wallet size. Additional wallet size photos may be purchased. Other popular portraits are babies, family portraits, pictures for sweethearts, pets and family groups for Mother's Day and Father's Day.

For four years John Leonard has offered service, advice and a friendly atmosphere at Photo USA. The rapid growth of this business can be attributed to recommendations by satisfied customers.

The fast and expert service is appreciated by their clientele. It takes only one and a half minutes to obtain a passport picture. One hour service for 110 and 35mm color prints is available. Black and white prints are available the same day, slides and super 8 discs can be picked up the next day. Quality enlargements in sizes up to 11x14 are done in-house.

Owner John Leonard does pastel portraits from photos of your favorite pet, car or house. Examples may be seen at Photo USA.

Manager and technician Bob Frye is capable of copying negatives and making a negative from a print. This allows copies to be made from prints if the negatives are lost or unavailable. This service is offered for both black and white and color. Bob is known for his expert skills in printing and his helpful attitude.

Photo USA also carries photo supplies, films and batteries. There is a selection of photo cards, mailers, albums and cameras (including disposable cameras). Gift certificates are available.

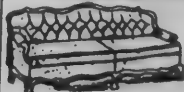

Photo USA is conveniently located at Shawbush Plaza, 200 North Main Street, Andover. There is ample parking. Hours are Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Telephone: 470-2766. R.C. Bernal

Managing a write-in vote

By Lisa Boudreau

Casting a vote for a School Committee candidate this year will require a little more effort than usual. On Monday, March 26, voters will be handed the usual white official punch-card ballot inside a gray envelope at the high school polling place.

Town Clerk Randy Hanson wants residents to know that a vote for one of the four write-in School Committee candidates, Joseph Frio, Christopher Outwin, Antonio Mendoza or Debra Silberstein, should be done on the gray envelope, not the white ballot.

"This year's voting at town elections will consist of two parts," said

Four seek one school seat

looking into before a decision like an override is considered," she said.

Andover can be proud of the quality education it provides for its children, Mrs. Silberstein said. She decided to run for School Committee because she wants to assure the standards will be maintained.

"I can offer my roles as a wife, mother and lawyer," Mrs. Silberstein said.

She said she is always prepared for the tasks she undertakes. In preparing for a run for the committee, she began keeping a notebook more than two years ago on the progress of education issues in Andover.

"I never do anything unless I am fully prepared and have done detailed, thorough research," she said.

The majority of Mrs. Silberstein's law practice is concerned with estate planning. She has monitored legislation concerning elders' issues and has written columns for area senior centers, including Andover's, about how these changes affect the elderly.

She has also been a board member of the Merrimack Valley United Jewish Communities and has been active in its Young Leadership division.

Because Mrs. Silberstein doesn't work five days each week, she said she will be able to commit the necessary time to the School Committee.

Library lists its hours

The hours for Memorial Hall Library's Elm Square branch are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.

Ms. Hanson.

Part one, the official white punch-card ballot that is electronically counted, is where residents will cast one vote for the Board of Selectmen's seat, one vote for town moderator and one vote for one Housing Authority seat.

Because Margo Tilghman withdrew from the at-that-point uncontested School Committee race after the deadline for filing candidacy papers, the four candidates' names won't appear on the official white ballot. The space for School Committee will remain blank on the white ballot and shouldn't be tampered with, said Ms. Hanson.

Part two, the gray envelope, has a blank line where a voter can write the office of School Committee and the name and address of the candidate he or she wishes to elect.

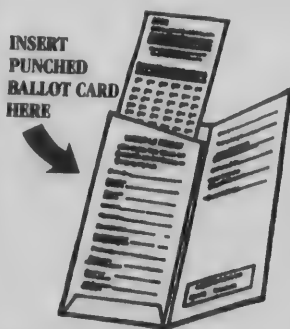

All four School Committee candidates say they will be outside the polling place at least 150 feet from the entrance, as required by law. For voters' convenience the candidates say they will hand out printed stickers with the candidates' names and addresses. The stickers should be placed on the outside gray envelope, not the printed ballot card.

If a candidate's name or sticker is placed anywhere but the gray envelope, the whole ballot must be hand counted, said Ms. Hanson.

If a candidate's name for School Committee or any other office is written on the gray envelope and it isn't legible, the vote may not be counted.

"If the intent of the voter can be determined, the vote will be counted," said Ms. Hanson.

To vote for a person not on the ballot, write title of office and candidate's name and address, or place a sticker containing that information, inside this flap.

Candidates who are running for office in the March 26 town elections were available for questions Saturday at Andover Savings Bank, Main Street. The League of Women Voters sponsored the informal event, where residents were able to ask candidates questions. Tonight, Thursday at 7:30, the league is sponsoring a candidates' debate at Andover High School, which will be carried live on cable Channel 12.

Group to study the downtown

Board members discussed the latest news, that Hughes Pharmacy, at 16 Main St., may be moving out of the Barnard Building, as a typical problem downtown. But they also said that it may be part of the economic climate — that stores such as Hughes and Barcelos can't compete with larger chains like CVS and DeMoulas Market Basket — and not a problem with downtown.

Planning member Hooks Johnston will chair the subcommittee. Former Town Manager Kenneth Mahony and Andover Bank President Robert Henderson will join Janet Wallace, chairwoman of the Downtown Merchants Association, Marge Bradshaw and Bill Dalton in rounding out the group.

The committee has not yet set a date and time for its first meeting.

Planners and Planning Board members Tuesday night discussed some of the problems and areas the subcommittee might look at, but all generally agreed that an attempt would not be made to dictate what businesses would be allowed downtown.

"I think it's going to be awfully difficult for any subcommittee to try and control or legislate the type of business downtown," Mr. Dalton said.

"All we can do is try and create an environment and let the forces of the market work."

Mr. Johnston wants to steer the group, at least at the start, away from formal meetings and get out on the street to understand the problems.

"My hope is that this group, one of its first activities will be a physical tour of downtown," Mr. Johnston said. "I don't want to invite anybody to a meeting, I want to go talk to them in their store."

Mr. Johnston also outlined "three buckets," or categories for study, the subcommittee would try to focus on.

The first task would be to define how the general economic environment is affecting businesses. The second focus would be on how the town's bylaws and policies might be inhibiting growth downtown. The third bucket would look at how the town can facilitate, and act as a bridge between adjacent property owners to encourage growth and co-operation.

Among the economic factors to be studied is how real estate prices in the late 1980s priced some businesses out of town, and how the current turn around may change the office and retail space availability downtown.

Planner Laura Hill referred to the most recent trend in the central business district as the "hopscoth of retail stores that's happening right now downtown."

Board member Carl Beyers said the subcommittee would have to take next year's revaluation into account.

"That's going to hit all of us between the eyes," Mr. Beyers said.

Owner Joanne Murphy Miller

The Tile Loft

Owner Joanne Murphy Miller has had experience in the tile business for fifteen years. She was in the commercial aspect in Boston and then represented an architectural firm for brick and tile before opening her own retail showroom five years ago. The Tile Loft has been at its new location in Haverhill since October. This interesting new showroom offers customers a better opportunity to view the merchandise on display. They sell ceramic, marble and granite tiles for homeowners.

Joanne offers highly personalized service and has the expertise to assist the customer in this field, which is confusing to the average homeowner. She will discover their needs and guide them through the process from the beginning to the completion of the project.

Displayed in this efficient showroom are both imported and domestic tiles suitable for every need. The Tile Loft will eliminate the confusion concerning what type of tile is suitable for foyers, walls, baths, countertops, backsplashes, jacuzzis and floors.

Tiles are available to suite every taste, from the utilitarian to the artistic and the whimsical to the elegant. Original backsplashes can be ordered that make a personal statement depicting a favorite recipe, hobby or special interest. The customer is able to individualize tiles with custom art work. An artist will create tiles to match wallpaper or fabric. They carry elegant Victorian reproduction tiles. These unique tiles offer the opportunity for the homeowner to express individuality. Ceramic knobs and moldings furnish a complete look.

Every item is special ordered and is delivered within a week to ten days.

The Tile Loft is located at 1181 Boston-Road (Route 125) in the Ward Hill area of Haverhill. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday. Telephone: (508) 521-0666.

Investigating civil rights in El Salvador

ers said at least 100 women and children from the village they were trying to get to arrived on the scene.

"They wanted us to walk with them back to the village," he said.

"Six of us decided when the people asked us to cross, we would cross."

The Salvadoran military attempted to stop the villagers and six observers by holding out their arms, said Mr. Meyers.

"We just walked right through. There wasn't any hard shoving or anything," he said.

Three of the people Mr. Meyers was with had been arrested the previous fall while accompanying refugees in exile in Honduras back to their homeland.

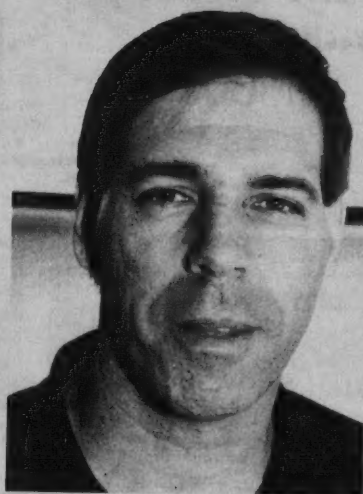

"They were stripped down, handcuffed, blindfolded and threatened with death," he said.

"I was terrified. I thought I was going to be arrested," Mr. Meyers said.

Mr. Meyers went to the Central American country as part of the Interfaith Office on Accompaniment, an ecumenical group affiliated with Catholic University in Washington, D.C. This wasn't the first time he was in El Salvador or another Latin American country.

Last October he was part of a group of residents from the Fifth Congressional District who accompanied Salvadoran refugees, living in Honduras, attempting to go back to their homes.

Part of Mr. Meyers' job was to observe and chronicle the human rights violations and report back to organizations such as the United Nations' High Commission of Refugees and America's Watch.

The fighting in El Salvador is part of a decade-old civil war. The U.S.-backed, government militia has been warring against the Farbundo Marti Liberation Nacional, a guerrilla coalition.

"The military of the El Salvadoran government was involved in tremendous attacks on the civilian population in these areas," Mr. Meyers said.

The areas of greatest contention are the provinces that border El Salvador and Honduras. Since 1987 human rights groups, such as the one Mr. Meyers is affiliated with, have worked with the refugees, moving back to Salvador from refugee camps across the boarder in Honduras.

"It's a difficult process because the El Salvadoran military doesn't want these people going back in. They (the military) are scared that these people may be sympathetic to the FMLN," Mr. Meyers said.

"There have been numerous testimonies (from refugees) of military soldiers going to the camps and physically abusing people, beatings, rapes etcetera. All are human rights violations," he said.

The new democratically-elected administration of Violeta Chamorro in neighboring Nicaragua may have an effect how American officials supporting the El Salvadoran government view affairs in Central America in the future, said Mr. Meyers.

He said the extent of U.S. involvement in every day life is hard to fathom. Just before he planned to return to Andover in February, he was involved in organizing and advertising a memorial service for six Jesuit priests murdered last year in El Salvador.

When he attempted to place an advertisement inviting the public to the memorial service, the advertising man at the El Salvadoran radio station asked if he had received permission from the American embassy to hold and advertise the service, said Mr. Meyers.

"Just that one story tells you the tremendous influence we (Americans) have over their entire society," he said.

Mr. Meyers said that current events in Eastern block countries, with the democratic victory in Nicaragua, are changing the way Americans think about their government's foreign policy.

"The difference may be that the defense for U.S. policy given by Reagan and Bush has fallen on its face," Mr. Meyers said.

"To attempt to use the argument of an international communist conspiracy instead of looking at the real issues that cause revolution — poverty, lack of control of resources, degradation of peasants, now has no logic."

Mr. Meyers continues to keep in touch with U.S. Rep. Chet Atkins and other members of the Fifth Congressional District who are concerned with U.S. policy and human rights violations in Salvador. He speaks to groups around the Merrimack Valley about what he has witnessed.

He will be speaking at seminars and presenting slides of his travels at Phillips Academy, Merrimack College, Salem State College and the University of Lowell in the near future.

He hopes to return at the end of the school year in June to some of the areas that are being resettled
